U. S. Army Bomber Hits Big Jap Cruiser

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(International News Service)
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Disclosing the names of staff officers who accompanied Gen. Douglas MacArthur to Australia, the war department today simultaneously announced that American army flying fortress bombers scored a direct hit on a large Japanese cruiser in a harbor on New Britain island.

The raid by two heavy bombers was the second made in the past few days on Jap bases at Rabaul, on New Britain, northeast of Australia.

In the earlier raid a single bomber smashed airport installations and destroyed at least two enemy planes.

The second raid was carried out by two large U. S. Army bombers which scored a direct hit on a large cruiser while attacking Japanese shipping in the harbor.

The disclosure of movement of staff officers from the Philippines bolstered the belief that American top ranking military men have moved into vital war areas to take over operations for the United Nations in their battle against the Japanese.

Report Nazi Submarine Landed Wounded German Sailor At Martinique

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 20—Responsible sources in Washington today disclosed that a Nazi submarine recently landed a wounded German sailor at Martinique, French island possession in the Caribbean.

The German U-boat surfaced off the island and sent the wounded man ashore in a collapsible rubber boat. After requesting the French authorities to care for the man, the crew of the boat returned to their submarine, which submerged and disappeared.

Following the U-boat's disappearance, the French authorities informed the official American observer stationed at Martinique of the incident.

The German sailor appears to have been wounded while his submarine was engaged in raiding shipping in the Caribbean area. Whether the U-boat was struck by shellfire from an armed merchant ship

Draft Changes Will Be Asked

Seek Law To Provide For Men 44-64 Being Used In Industry

REGISTRATION IS SET FOR APRIL 27

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Military authorities and war production officials, it was learned today, will ask congress for sweeping revision of the national draft act in order to make use of the reservoir of 11,800,000 men between the ages of 45 and 64, inclusive, who must register April 27 under a proclamation signed by President Roosevelt.

Under the present law, it was pointed out, there is no authority to make use of the men, even for work in war industries.

"It is like having a wagon without a horse," said an army official.

"Or, like having on automobile without tires," remarked a war production spokesman.

Under the draft act, all men from 18 to 64, inclusive, are liable to registration. Men from 20 to 44, inclusive, are liable for military service. But other than carrying out the registration of the 18 and 19 year olds and men from 45 to 64, the army is powerless at this time to order them into the service or into factories.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

STOCKHOLM, March 20.—Terrific fighting is raging around the town of Vyazma, where the Germans were striving to prevent the town from being encircled, according to the Stockholm Dagens Nyheter today.

The Russians were reported in the dispatch to have captured a place believed to be Sergoivanoskaja, midway between Vyazma and Gzjatsk, as well as 13 enemy radio stations.

In the Smolensk district the Red army recaptured three more places, the newspaper said.

Enemy Active In New Guinea

Australian Prime Minister Issues Communique On War Situation

AUSTRALIA POISED TO HIT INVASION

By LOUIS LECK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SYDNEY, March 20—Extensive Japanese activity was reported in the Salamaua and Lae areas of New Guinea Island today by Australian Prime Minister John Curtin in a communique.

Australian defenders in New Guinea has not yet reported any clashes with the enemy on the island, however, Curtin said. The communique was issued at Canberra.

The prime minister disclosed that two persons were killed, one seriously injured and seven other slightly hurt yesterday when Japanese planes dropped bombs on Port Darwin in Northern Australia.

Over Port Moresby

Jap planes flew over Port Moresby twice yesterday, but were driven off by Australian anti-aircraft fire. No serious damage or casualties resulted, Curtin said.

Presumably, the Japanese activity reported in the Salamaua and Lae vicinities was related to previous reports that Nippon forces in New Guinea were being guided through the Markham River Valley by Nazi-trained natives. Observers in Sydney were still speculating whether the Japs were concentrated principally with controlling strategic airports in the valley or with traversing all the way over the mountains for a blow at Port Moresby, where Australian forces have been expecting an attack momentarily.

Meanwhile, Australia was confidently poised to repel possible invasion attempts from any direction and American and Australian flyers planned new offensive blows against the Japs.

Americans Now Fly With Members Of R. A. A. F.

Planes of the Royal Australian Air Force, now reinforced by the United States Army Air Corps, have delivered smashing blows against Japanese naval forces gathered for an attack on the commonwealth. Student pilots and gunners of the R. A. A. F. are pictured above with their training planes at Ballarat, Australia. These men soon will fly into action against the Japs.

Burma Battle Is Under Way

Chinese Troops In Contact With Japanese Along Thailand Frontier

BLISTERING HEAT BEING ENCOUNTERED

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

CHUNGKING, March 20—Chinese troops in northern Burma today made contact with Japanese forces at four points along the Burma-Thailand frontier.

The Japanese made several attempts to cross the border. All were repulsed.

British troops are now holding a line extending from the Sittang River across the railroad to the coast north of Bassein.

WITH BRITISH FORCES IN BURMA, March 20—The battle for Burma has begun.

The Japanese, after a lull of a week, launched an offensive northward beneath a blistering tropical sun. Tanks and armored cars were too hot to touch. The countryside was dusty and the usually water-filled paddy-fields were dried up.

The terrific heat was not the only thing facing the invaders—the British forces were now in a position of defense and were awaiting the enemy's assault.

Main Thrust

The main Japanese thrust is being made up the Burma road towards Mandalay with Toungpoo as its immediate objective, according to field reports.

The fact that only British forward troops are now in contact with the Japanese at Kanyutkwin, 40 miles from Toungoo, shows that the main British forces have withdrawn further northward, and the Japanese were allowed to advance 40 miles into the Shwegyin area with little opposition.

Reports from the Prome road sector said that officials believe, judging from Japanese activity along the Irrawaddy river, that it presages a parallel push with Prome as their immediate objective and the Irrawaddy oilfields, 125 miles further north, as their subsequent objective.

The Japanese using boats, sailed up the Irrawaddy as far as a point 25 miles north of Tharrawaddy, where they contacted traitor Burmese natives to assist in their infiltration tactics.

The Japanese move on this front was believed still preliminary, since their main forces are still 45 miles south of Tharrawaddy and will have to advance 60 miles north before they meet the main British forces.

American Army Officers Take Over Key Commands

By JOSEPH A BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Moving into key command positions with typical American brusqueness, top-ranking United States army officers today are mapping strategy and directing operations designed to bring victory to the United Nations against Germany, Italy and Japan.

In response to public and official clamor at home and abroad for a change in tactics, some of America's best military tacticians now are laying the groundwork for the anticipated world-wide offensive against the Axis.

The trend toward American direction of the war began dramatically a few days ago with the transfer of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the Philippines to Australia as supreme commander of United Nations forces in the southwest Pacific and began to spread immediately to other war theaters.

As a sequel to MacArthur's appointment, Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell was placed in command of two Chinese armies in Burma to cooperate with the British in halting the Japanese drive toward India.

Also in Australia, Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett has been named deputy supreme commander in charge of air forces as American and United Nations pilots increased the tempo of raids upon Japanese invasion sites on islands north of the continent.

While the full effect of the changes in command may not be felt for some time, the feeling prevails in Washington that "things will be different from now on".

Military experts warn, however, that the United Nations may suffer additional reverses before the increasing flow of American arms reaches war fronts in sufficient quantities to turn the tide of battle definitely against the Axis.

Williamsport Hero Secretly Married

Reveal Sergt. Lockard Slipped Off To Winchester And Was Married

(International News Service)

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., March 20—The marriage of Staff Sgt. Joseph L. Lockard, 19-year-old Pearl Harbor hero, to Pauline E. Seidel, 20, has left his home town of Williamsport a little bit surprised today.

With the eyes of the nation watching his every move following his return from Hawaii where his warning of approaching Jap planes on Dec. 7 were unheeded, Lockard and his schoolgirl sweetheart quietly slipped off to Winchester, Va., March 10 and were married in the Evangelical church. The bride's parents announced the elopment last night.

Lockard, awarded the Distinguished Service Medal by the War Department, is now enrolled in the officers' training course at Ft. Monmouth, N. J. His bride will join him upon completion of his training.

To Put Issue Up To Green And Murray

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Administration senators today planned to ask the nation's top-ranking labor leaders—President William Green, of the A. F. of L. and Phillip Murray of the C.I.O.—whether they will approve bonus and piece-work plans as incentives to speed war production.

The proposal for incentive plans was endorsed strongly by Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, and approved by other high army and navy production officials.

Hold Woman In Trunk Murder

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., March 20.—A small 46-year-old housewife was held in jail today as the confessed perpetrator of Atlanta's strange trunk murder.

The woman, Mrs. Minnie Lee Griffin, confessed to chief of detectives J. A. McKibben that she killed pretty Mrs. Mildred Seymour Williams, 22-year-old shoe store clerk, by beating her over the head and then concealed her body in an old-fashioned detachable automobile trunk in the basement of the Griffin home.

She gave as reason for her act the belief Mrs. Williams was attempting to steal the love of her daughter's husband, but members of both families were quick to declare the belief was a figment of her imagination.

May Ask Nelson To Give Testimony

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 20—Donald Nelson, war production board chief, and other high W. P. B. officials today faced a possible call before a congressional committee to explain events that led to the resignation of R. R. Guthrie as head of the extile division.

Rep. Faddis, chairman of the Military Affairs Investigating Subcommittee conducting the hearings, declared.

"We're going to call everyone who we think we can shed light on the matter. This is a full dress affair."

Guthrie, wealthy retired businessman, resigned his position with the W. P. B. when "friction" developed over his plans to convert industries to war production.

The newly appointed commander of all United Nations forces in the southwestern Pacific was interviewed for the first time in Australia while on his way to field headquarters at some undisclosed point on this heavily guarded island continent.

He spoke briefly. But sounded the keynote of his present and future plans in these simple but eloquent words:

MacArthur To Attend War Council

Defense Plans To Be Pondered

Conference Will Be Held At Canberra Is Indication Today

COOPERATION MOVES ALREADY UNDER WAY

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

CANBERRA, March 20.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur will arrive in Canberra next Tuesday and probably will attend a meeting of the Australian war council, Prime Minister John Curtin said today. Strategic matters involving defense of the continent probably will be discussed, it was indicated.

The final form which cooperation between the United States and Australia will take, so far as the various commands of the combined forces is concerned, is expected to be worked out at the conference.

It was believed in Canberra, however, that an immediate understanding over cooperation of the air forces of the two nations was reached earlier today at a conference attended by Curtin, Lieut. Gen. George Brett, commander of the United Nations air forces in the southwest Pacific, and Australian Army Air Minister Francis M. Forde.

General Brett flew to Canberra for the conference, later returning to American headquarters.

Report $150,000 Diamond Theft

(International News Service)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20—A collection of diamonds valued at $150,000 was stolen last night from the safe of Stewarts, Inc., fashionable St. Petersburg art dealers, Chief of Detectives John Siers announced today.

The thief probably used the combination to the safe because the doors were found open and undamaged and the automatic police alarm was not sounded, Siers said.

M. L. Diamond, president of the firm, discovered the robbery when he arrived this morning. He said he found the doors of the establishment unlocked. The thief had overlooked one $3,000 diamond in the bottom of the safe, he said.

REPORT NAZI SUB LANDED ITS WOUNDED MAN AT MARTINIQUE

while operating on the surface, or whether it was damaged by depth charges from American warships is not yet known in Washington.

U. S. Objects

As soon as this government learned of the incident, the French were notified that the United States objects to German submarines using Martinique waters for any purpose whatever.

The French, in reply, claimed that the German submarine's action in landing a wounded sailor was perfectly justified under international law as defined in the Geneva and Hague conventions.

This government reminded the French that France sent America a formal diplomatic note on August 21, 1916, in which the French government took the position that German submarines should be excluded from the benefit of the rules of international law applying to the admission of belligerent ships into neutral ports.

Recall French Note

The French note of that date protested against the fact that German submarines were entering American waters although the United States had not then entered the war. The note said "the allied governments are of the opinion that submarine vessels should be excluded from the benefit of the rules hitherto recognized by the law of nations regarding the admission of vessels of war or merchant vessels into neutral waters, roadsteads or ports."

The French note added that "any place which provides a submarine warship far from its base with opportunity for rest...thereby furnishes such an addition to its power that the place becomes in fact, through the advantages which it gives, a base of naval operations."

The note urged neutral governments "to take effective measures ...with a view to preventing belligerent submarine vessels, whatever the purpose to which they are put, from making use of neutral waters, roadsteads and ports."

Following delivery of the French communication, similar notes were received by the United States, Great Britain, Russia, Japan, Italy and Portugal.

The American government now takes the position that it has a legitimate precedent for declaring that it will not tolerate German submarines making use of western hemispheric waters for any purpose whatever.

The F. B. I. knows all of our Fifth Columnists. Is it our policy to give them the first lick, too?

The bright side is that we'll soon know the worst. If we are not licked this year, we never will be.

MOSCOW REPORTS TANK FORCE ROUTED

driving back German reinforcements with heavy loses, the Moscow radio reported, on the southwest front.

Desperate Battle

Meantime the Nazi high command was said to be fighting desperately on the flanks of the Rzhev-Vyazma pocket to stem the Russian tide, gradually encircling the huge pocket in which 400,000 Nazi troops were said to be trapped. The town of Gzhatsk on the eastern tip of the pocket was reported isolated, and the Russian forces storming its outer defenses.

To the south, Marshal Timoshenko was reported speeding up the intensity of his attack on Kharkov with support of the Red air force.

There was reported a feeling here in the Soviet capital that the next three weeks will bring sensational developments in the entire campaign.

The noon Red army official communique merely declared "there has been no material changes in the front during the night's fighting."

Huge Tanks Used

(A Stockholm dispatch said the Red army was throwing huge 64-ton tanks, capable of standing up against the strongest anti-tank guns, against the Nazis. It is rumored, Stockholm said, that an even more formidable monster—a 90-tonner—was being tested in the Kharkov area.)

Meantime, the Germans were employing large numbers of their biggest tanks and warplanes on the southwest front, but were still unable to breach the Soviet lines.

Both armies were suffering heavily in the fighting on the Rzhev-Vyazma sector, said reports from the front. Heavy rains in this area have somewhat handicapped action around Kharkov for many miles.

Nazis Subs Sunk

(London reports said that Soviet naval cutters in the Baltic have sunk eight German submarines and shot down 2 planes during the past few weeks.)

An article in Izvestia today described how the Russians are repairing the roads and railway bridges of leading communications westward on the central front.

The Russians report that, judging from prisoners' statements and orders captured by Soviet authorities, the Thirteenth German army is exhausted and that a difference is being found in the attitude of many divisions. Many Sudeten Germans are included in that group.

A dispatch from the central front related that the Germans were trying to furnish one trapped unit with munitions and food by plane and that captured orders showed the commander of the 101st German Rifle Regiment had already reduced his men's rations one-third.

DRAFT CHANGES WILL BE ASKED

already have been registered. After the 45 to 64 group is signed up, the 18 and 19 year olds will remain as the only group not yet registered. About 1,200,000 in number, they are expected to be registered about April 29 or 30.

No plans are being made for a lottery for the older men, many of them grandfathers. Instead plans are being drawn to ask congress for legislation to use the men in war industries or any other civilian post deemed necessary by the army or war production officials. Such men will be hand-picked and there will be no necessity for a lottery, it was explained.

Plan Proposed

Government officials also may ask for power to blanket men into war production jobs to prevent men from shifting from one factory to another and interrupting production. If the workers refuse to remain at jobs assigned to them, the government will enlist them into the army and force them to stay on the job at army pay starting at $21 a month, according to tentative drafts of proposed legislation.

Plans also are going forward to provide military training for the 18 and 19 year olds, but there again it will require legislation from congress. Several plans are being discussed, including full-time training at regular camps and part-time training such as that given national guard units in peacetime.

Officials point out that many former army officers in the 45 to 65 age group could be "drafted" to drill the youths without taking officers out of the regular army.

WARNS ABOUT SEEDS

(International News Service)

GENEVA, N. Y.—Prof. M. T. Munn, head of the state experiment station seed testing laboratory, today issued a warning to farmers to use great care in buying seeds this year. "Bargain seeds," he said, "are the biggest slackers on the farm today where every effort is being made to produce sufficient food at the very lowest expense, and they never enlist in the fight against weeds."

It is one of those good luck type, don't break the chain or bad luck will befall you. Mary Whosus won $400 within four days after sending out her share of the chain, and Frank Whiffle also had a streak of good fortune. These letters are pure hokum, the postmaster states, and it is surprising the number of credulous people who fall for them. They are just as illegal as chain letters which ask for money or merchandise, and he urges local citizens to pay no attention to them.

his command to enable the first major blow against an enemy soon destined to feel the striking power of his brilliant leadership, General MacArthur made clear that President Roosevelt has predicated the whole campaign upon a decision that the Philippines in their entirety must be freed as soon as possible.

Presidents Orders

"The President of the United States," General MacArthur said, "asked me to break through the Japanese lines and to proceed from Corregidor to Australia for the purpose of reorganizing American defenses against Japan.

"The primary purpose of this is the relief of the Philippines."

While the Australian press continued to pour adulation upon the American leader and voiced hopes of early offensive action of a decisive nature, reports from the battlefronts north of Australia indicated little new activity.

Japanese land forces reported pressing overland for Port Moresby under leadership of Nazis who had entrenched themselves with the natives in the garb of missionaries were believed advancing slowly through the hills and jungles, but there was no indication that any contact had yet been made with local defense forces.

Seasons Styles--Emergency Fund Keynotes Of B. P. W. Fashion Show

A double victory was acclaimed Thursday evening when the Business and Professional Women's club presented their annual style show in the Strouss-Hirshberg store before a throng of enthusiastic guests, numbering well over 500—that of showing headliners for the "Easter Parade of '42" and for helping Uncle Sam's emergency wartime fund, the entire proceeds being turned over to this cause.

The occasion was cleverly and entertainingly given, combining a well balanced musical program, the numbers being heard at intervals throughout the evening. It not only brought to light smart creations, but emphasized the importance of looking one's best, to keep up the high spirit and morale in these feverish times.

Miss Mary Bigley, president of the club, extended a cordial welcome in rhyme, outlining the evening's program. Miss Mary Harvard as commentator, explained in detail the features of intriguing styles worn by the ladies modeling. She was ably assisted by W. R. Short of the Strouss-Hirshberg ready-to-wear department. Frank Summers of Reynolds and Summers was commentator for the men models, who told of new notes in gentlemen's suits and coats. Miss Olive Webb provided musical accompaniment, the instrument being offered by Mrs. Orra Snyder.

A highlight was the showing of proper attire for the "victory bride" headed for a southern honeymoon; "the army bride" who marries in haste but in style; lastly, the "formal church wedding" which needs no explanation, for there isn't anything more beautiful!

Beige and brown are favored for the men with bright plaid coats and plain trousers, and some with stripes; tan buck shoes and spats too are favored.

Appearing on the musical program were: John Kyle, who sang "Long Ago In Alcala Land" by Messager and "Calm, Repose, Contentment, Smiling" by Handel with Miss Jane Kyle, accompanist; Andy Lisko, violinist, played "Sicilinne and Rigavdon" by Kreisler and "Album Leaf" by Wagner with Miss Idajean Mitchell, pianist; Miss Elsa Strehler sang "Still Is the Night" by Baum "I Love Life" by Manno-Zacca with Mrs. Richard Allen, accompanist; James Bowman sang "Dear Mom" and "White Cliffs of Dover" with E. E. Branstetter ,accompanist.

Modeling were Mrs. Isabel Vonderau, Mrs. Wanda McBride, Miss Dorothy Bradford, Mrs. Peggy Eagan, Miss Grace Short, Mrs. Ben Agnew, Mrs. Joe Wallace, Miss Elaine Bollard and Mrs. Anna Gall. Showing men's clothes were Ernest Crisswell, James Cherol, Jr., Dyke Monsey and Wayne Carpenter.

Miss Geraldine Fry of the B. P. W. club was general chairman, who gave splendid guidance. She was aided by the following hostesses: Miss Mary Bigley, Miss Mary Scherger, Miss Olive Webb and Mrs. Mabel Hutchison Bollard, all in formals. Ushering were Miss Lucille Lutton, Miss Theodora Pollock, Mrs. Sara Sankey McCune, Miss Eleanor Smith, Miss Helen White and Mrs. Hazel Boyd.

Five door prizes were given, with little Carolyn Chaddick in a blue formal drawing as winners Mrs. E. A. Pontius, Mrs. Margaret Wilkison, Mrs. June Battley, Mrs. D. B. McKnight and Mrs. Pearson Furst.

HIGH STEEL OUTPUT

THE steel industry of the United States is now operating at approximately 97 per cent of its capacity in ingot output. This is considerably above former production rated near the same percentage because last year mill capacity was increased substantially.

This 97 per cent rate would be boosted still higher except for the difficulty in obtaining scrap. Strenuous efforts are being made to increase the amount of scrap available and if they succeed the mill ingot output is scheduled for 100 per cent of capacity.

The present high point has been reached by steel mills concurrently with suspension of motor car production. But estimated requirements for manufacture of munitions, for shipbuilding and other armament needs are increasing day by day and the steel mills have the biggest backlog of orders in their history.

Until the end of the war, the problem facing the steel industry will be one of production to meet ever-increasing demand. Nothing approaching the present demand for steel was ever experienced, not excepting the period of the last war.

WILL JAPS JUMP RUSSIA?

A date to challenge the powers of the prophets is the hour when Japan will begin to heave bombs and shells at Russia. Hitler wants the Japs to take on the Russians this spring to help him on the Western front in Russia. It is a foregone conclusion that Japan has Russia on its list for future invasion.

The treaty Japan and Russia entered into can be wadded up as so much paper overnight and cast aside by Japan. One result of such a maneuver would be Stalin's immediate decision to make available air bases along the Siberian coast to the United States. Those bases could be used by this country with great effect.

'I WILL WORK; I WILL ENDURE'

A letter writer to the editor of the New York Herald Tribune the other day expressed the belief that the rank and file of Americans were not sufficiently aroused to the grim necessity of winning this war and that they weren't showing enough of the fighting spirit.

If there is any truth in that, it mightn't be a bad idea for all of us to adopt as our personal slogan the following which, according to Vice President Wallace, was found on the flyleaf of the diary of Martin Treptow, Iowa youth killed at Chateau Thierry, France, in 1918:

"America must win this war. Therefore I will work; I will save; I will sacrifice; I will endure; I will fight cheerfully and do my utmost, as if the issue of the whole struggle depended on me alone."

That is the kind of spirit that wins. That is the kind of spirit we must have, whether on the firing line, in war production plants or in our routine, workaday jobs, if we're going to win this war quickly and decisively.

A LUMP OF COAL

Pictures have recently been published showing a new plane built almost entirely of plastic materials. It is a beautiful looking job.

Unbelievable as it may seem, coal supplies essential ingredients for many of the plastics used in modern airplane construction—for wings, fuselages, fairings, radio antenna masts, trim tabs, control pulleys, pilot switch panels, cabin ventilators and cameras.

The designers and builders of airplanes find that plastics from coal provide essential materials for building stronger and better planes.

Also plastics produced from coal furnish materials for hundreds of other articles such as pencils, clocks, raincoats, battery boxes, air-conditioning grilles, radio cabinets, table tops, etc.

Chemicals from coal contribute to the American way of life, in road construction, medicines, weed killers, automobile tires, clay pigeons, telephones, wood preservatives, etc.

Few persons realize that our chemical industry, in conjunction with the natural resources industries such as mining, oil, timber and power, have been quietly revolutionizing and improving our American standard of living. This is but another triumph to chalk up for individual opportunity and enterprise in our country.

TRAGIC RECORD OF FRANCE'S FALL

Testimony in France's unpreparedness trial at Riom offers a tragic record of futility and despair in the face of the Nazi menace. According to the evidence thus far France fell because its soldiers and its people were apathetic, its army officers inadequately trained, its planes and tanks inconspicuous by their absence and the belief of its troops that they had only to "sit back and wait" and victory would be dropped in their laps.

According to General Blanchard, a witness in the case against Blum, Daladier and others charged with responsibility for France's collapse, "our inferiority in aircraft was immense. It was immense to such a point that our troops had the impression that French aviation was non-existent or else that it was not working."

Moreover, he added, "our anti-aircraft batteries did not have enough ammunition to keep up an effective barrage. As far as tanks were concerned, we were submerged."

Wars can't be won these days without superior air power, mechanized equipment and enough anti-aircraft guns to make many planes keep their distance. Moreover, wars can't be won without enthusiasm, without the full and energetic support of all the people.

The story of France's appalling unpreparedness in the spring of 1940 has a resounding moral for America. Our war production is mounting rapidly, but we have, as yet, nothing like enough planes, ships, guns and other vital supplies to crush the enemy on all fronts. We must not let our efforts flag. We must push our war output to the limit.

The same goes for our enthusiasm. It should be greater than it is. We need more parades, more brass bands, more popular demonstrations of unity and enthusiastic co-operation. Neither apathy nor complacency ever accompanied great deeds. Let's get rid of both.

Those official communications which the Japs issue are about as optimistic as those Florida real estate prospectuses we used to get back in the roaring twenties.

Remember the old fashioned man who bought new tires every season because he didn't want to be bothered by possible blowouts or punctures?

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

EVILS OF SHOWING OFF CHILDREN.

A little while ago I observed a program given by the young children of a Sunday school before the whole school filling a large auditorium. It was dignified, impressive, brief.

No little tots were sent out on the platform alone to be embarrassed and forget their pieces, or to be laughed at for their cunningness. They appeared in groups talking together, singing in concert, doing team work.

I have come away from similar exercises enraged at what I saw and heard. Babies scarcely able to toddle lisping little songs or verses, roared at by the audience if they did anything not expected of adults, laughed at in the midst of their performance; little children saying things which they thought were sacred but which, they discovered, big people of the church treated as mere jokes.

Those who with great diligence and patience train the little children for such a program don't have the children in mind. An entertainment is being put on for the grown-ups.

The little child who spouts off pieces in public or at home before guests, so as to win strong approval, is in grave danger of becoming priggish. He soon craves for more attention than he ought to have, and for more than he will get later in life. When, at last, he feels a falling off of marvel and surprise at his cleverness, he suffers terribly. He may become annoying to adults, avoided by his playmates.

If you have a child who is musically inclined, it may encourage him to practice if you have him play occassionally before your friends. But keep in mind that grave dangers face him and that, therefore, you are going to do your utmost not to ruin him.

As a rule, it is not good for young children to perform individually in public, nor at home before company.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. I have a child eight years old whom I have tried to bring up without resorting to physical punishment but solely by reasoning and persuading. Now I find him almost unmanageable. Should I use corporal punishment on him?

A. I dislike to advise corporal punishment so very late. Of course, you must find some way to manage that lad. In case you do use corporal punishment, you and the boy's other parent should first agree on a definite program. In this event, let me suggest that you limit such punishment to only one situation (when he leaves the chair to which he has been assigned to sit doing nothing for, say, thirty minutes) before the assigned time is up.

The World and the Mud Puddles

NOW IS THE TIME

Americans have an axiom that leadership is produced by emergencies that demand leadership. That axiom is on now trial.

It is on trial in Congress, where momentous decisions are being made that will affect the relationship of the legislative branch to the whole body politic for generations to come.

It is on trial in organized labor, which has grown to proportions of power that give the leader of labor influence comparable to that of the highest officials in the national government.

It is on trial in the management group, where members must find a way to coordinate the factors of production successfully for the vast new armament production, and later must find a way to transmute war production into peace production.

It is on trial in the population at large, which must find within itself the terms on which it can accept the necessity of doing the things essential for upholding the American way of life.

No one dreamed that the United States would be able to accept the responsiolity of the great destiny which its population and resources have opened to it without dislocations and friction. But almost everybody has dared to dream that when the time came the United States would rise to the occasion, cast off its superficial troubles, root out its deep-seated handicap and acquit itself with honor and successs.

The time is now—not tomorrow, not yesterday, but now. The emergency has reached its first major climax. The leadership—the statesmanship—that must be forthcoming either will appear now, or hope of civilization ever since the United States first earned its right to survive in the Revolutionary War will be only a dead thing recorded in the histories of the future.

Bible Thought For Today

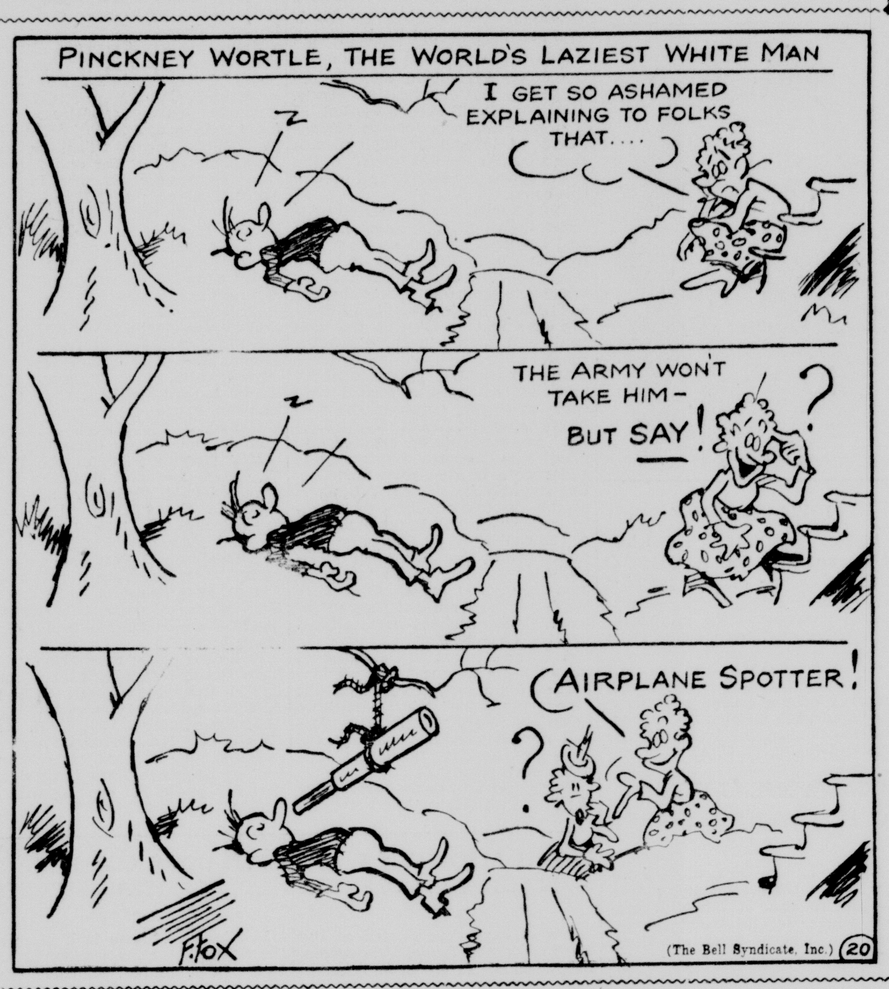

They threw away many things that they treasurer, but their lives depended on parting with all not essential to life. May be we are carrying excess cargo right now: And we being exceedingly tossed by a temptest, the next day we lightened the ship—Acts 27:18.

Hints On Etiquette

If you are talking with a Canadian or South American, don't refer to yourself as an American, as if citizens of the U. S. A. are the only Americans. They are Americans just as truly as you are.

If the worst happens, those responsible for America's unpreparedness will wish they had died in their cradles.

MAKING SPEECHES

I am constantly deluged with letters from women who are active in organizations wherein they have evidently accepted executive positions requiring them to deliver occasional speeches. They plead with me to write their speeches for them. "Oh, what shall I say at our next club meeting at which we will have a visitor whom I must welcome" is a typical request. Naturally not being familiar with the club activities, the people involved, I am unable to be of much help for such talks should not be stereotyped. My only possible advice is: Decline the offer of executive positions if you are unable or fulfill the duties pertaining to them. If you lack the poise to stand up among a roomful of people and say a few words, do not accept offices involving speech making. Or try, like Demosthenes, the greatest of all Greek orators, to overcome shyness of speech by practicing when you are alone. Read aloud. Join one of the many organizations that will develop in you any latent talent you may have for speech-making. But upon discovery that you lack the knack of doing such things, let someone better equipped have the job. Even Arnold Bennett, the brilliant English writer, refused to make speeches. Once when he was called on to say a few words, so I read, he took his fountain pen out of his pocket, held it up and said: "This does my talking," and sat down. Gen. Grant's presidential campaign speeches totaled 25 words. So, it is no disgrace to admit that you are not gifted with oratory.

Question: Is it ever correct for the bridegroom to walk up the aisle with the bride?—Ethel.

Answer: From the standpoint of conventional etiquette, this is not proper. The bride should walk either with her father or with any other person who is to give her away. She should walk alone if no one is to perform this function. Of course, if they are being married quietly, the bride wearing street clothes, they may walk up the aisle together if they wish.

Question: When ice cream and cake are served together—not a la mode—should they be eaten with the spoon or the fork?—Ida.

Answer: The icea cream should be eaten with the spoon or the ice cream fork and the cake with the dessert fork.

A GREEN GREENHOUSE

New Castle, Pa.
March 17, 1942.

Dear Mr. Hints and Dints:

In reading over your column this eve, I find that you have failed in the attainment of one of your life's greatest ambition: i. e. the sight of a green greenhouse.

Now I consider that a deplorable situation for any one, man or child, and feel that something should be done about it at once.

To assist you, I suggest that you take a drive out to Greenwood Acres, on the East Brook road.

There, at the home of T. C. Reichard, on the plot of ground formerly occupied by the famous Moffatt school, you will be able to feast your eyes on "wonder of wonders", a green greenhouse.

Yours for a long life. A constant reader of your column.

T. C. REICHARD.

P. S. It really is green!

You have perhaps noticed that there are very few "found" ads in the classified columns.

The people who sell gasoline seem to have about as many troubles as the people who buy it.

SOME FANTASTIC MARRIAGE CUSTOMS

When the cave man of our prehistoric times wanted a mate he took her, and he was not very particular where he got her. Likely as not if his neighbor's daughter was attractive he carried her to his own cave, and there she remained despite all protests.

As civilization has progressed, however, so has the institution of marriage, and in all Christian lands today marriage is by mutual consent. But some barbaric marriage customs still prevail in uncivilized and Oriental countries; in India, for instance, where children are sold into marriage.

And in other countries, too, archaic nuptial customs are still observed. One of these is a bride of Bugus of Celebes, Dutch East Indies, being carried on the shoulders of the head of her family.

For three days prior to the wedding ceremony the feet of the island brice are not permitted to touch the earth, and wherever she goes she is carried. In order to make her completely submissive to this unusual procedure, she is drugged into a state of virtual insensibility. Only after the ceremony has been carried out is she permitted to regain possession of her senses.

Mrs. Freshwood: "My doughnuts always seem so heavy. I don't know what's the matter with them." Mr. Freshwood: "Why not try making them with bigger holes?"

While a man cannot be forced to work in this country he often finds out it is better for him to do so.

If nautre arranges things, why does the kid who hungers for affection have parents too bashful to show any?

It looks as if there will be a big political war in Pennsylvania this year. It will be easy for the people to settle it in the right way when they cast their votes.

What's What At A Glance

Axis Treacherey Helpful To Allied Cause
Japs And Germans Would Knife Each Other
Germany Offers Japan Concessions To North

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 20—Nazi and Jap treachery naturally is resented by the United Nationalities for all they are worth when its directed their way, but there are observers among them who remark that it may prove an extremely valuable thing if the Axis folk get to playing it on one another. Some prophets believe perhaps before very long they are pretty likely to do just that.

I don't suppose anybody doubts that the Japs took the warpath when they did for the sake of what they calculated they could win for themselves in the midst of the general confusion and not on account of the slightest inclination to help the rest of the Axis or that they'd hesitate to dump Herr Hitler in a minute if they considered it a bit advantageous to do so. It equally is a foregone conclusion that Adolf doesn't care a hoot for the Japs except as he can use them for his personal benefit.

Now, there begin to be sighs that Nazi and Jap interests are starting to diverge.

The Fuehrer obviously deems it urgently necessary for his forces to get the Russians off their hands this spring. They distract him like sixty from attending to his other fronts and it stands to reason that he's desperately anxious to make quick work of them. Spring weather probably will be somewhat helpful to him, but it will help a heap more helpful if the Japs will jump them from their point of the compass at the same time.

Nice Promises

Hence the huge promises it's revealed that he has been making to them, if they'll wade in—Siberia, Alaska, all the Pacific Oceanica, India and its environs and the bulk of Africa, and later a crack, in partnership with himself, at the whole of the western hemisphere.

It's imaginable, though, that the Japs may question that he can deliver the goods.

Furthermore, supposing that, with their assistance, which evidently he imperatively needs, or he wouldn't be prepared to pay so much for it, he finally is in a position to make delivery—will he keep his word? Or will he elect to hang onto the entire loot, forcing the Japs to fight him, in turn, to get their split, if they can lick him? And that would be problematic, too. They don't trust him, of course, any farther than a man could throw a bull by the tail—any more than he trusts them.

That Nippon would be glad to grab Siberia isn't disputed or that it'll be disposed to fight Russia for it, but at its individual convenience—not Herr Hitler's.

It has been doing unpleasantly (from the United Nations' standpoint) well for itself thus far in Burma, Thailand, the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies and down toward Australasia. "What's the matter," asks Jap ex-War Minister Seishiro Itagaki (a general and a big man), "with consolidating our conquests where we've made 'em, regardless of taking on a lot of fresh contracts in Fuehrer Adolf's behalf?"

Adolf's argument is that, in case he's licked, the democracies will take the Japs' gains away from them again, but the Japs' angle is that the present is the immediate item.

Mutual Suspicion

Besides, they are as suspicious of Adolf as of anybody else, in the indefinite future.

And he's correspondingly suspicious of them.

These mutual Axis suspicions are a nice thing for the democracies.

Italy doesn't enter materially into the equation. It's the consensus that the Fascist regime will blow up as soon as the Nazis flatten out. So, for that matter, to a certainty, will Japan, but the Jap militarists are cuckoo and just now, they are inflated with pride.

The Japs need to be understood.

They are of two kinds. There is a civilian statesmanship, which is sensible and fairly decent. The Samurai, or militarists, are nutty—suicidal, if they consider it necessary. Pooh-pooing that element is a mistake. It honestly exists. And it's entirely independent of the rational civil government. Yet it isn't pro-Nazi. It is familiar with pre-Hitleristic talk of the "yellow peril" and hasn't forgotten it.

That Axis can disintegrate yet.

"I'll take a pair of those stylish-looking shoes."

Vanity of vanities.

Seventy per cent of people suffer from foot trouble.

Ill-fitting shoes are the major cause.

Ignorance and vanity prompt people to buy such shoes.

This is not exclusively a feminine foible.

Men are as prone to want "stylish" shoes as women.

Many believe all new shoes will pinch until "broken in."

A pinching shoe will cause corns, calluses or bunions.

Every American should be in top form physically.

Feet are useful—choose shoes that are comfortable.

People are going to walk more—don't be stymied by style.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

The fellow whose number came out first with our draft board wired MacArthur "Hold everything 'till I get there."

He is just an average guy but he figures that with MacArthur leading the band he could take Tokio with a cap pistol and an Indian war whoop.

A lot of plans have been suggested for stepping up war production—Reuther plan, Murray plan, Nelson plan. The "MacArthur Plan" would look good in there.

Section one, article one would read: "Get the job done."

That's all brother.

Stick that on factory bulletin boards with a photo of general magnificent and we wouldn't need anything more.

"The MacArthur Plan—Get the Job Done." Not copyright—Take it away brothers.

Thought for the day: Tokio papers please copy.

WASHINGTON — Joaquin Elizalde, resident Philippine commissioner: "We Filipinos look upon the transfer of General MacArthur to supreme command in the southwestern Pacific as a distinct compliment to our fighting ability."

WASHINGTON — Sam Rayburn, speaker of the house, says only 100 men engaged in war industries are on strike: "It appears that stoppages in production have been reduced to about zero."

ASSAULT AND BATTERY

As a grandpa, I suppose,
I've no right to ears and nose;
I've been given to understand
There's no law in any land
To protect old fools like me
From assault and battery.

Little hands are free to tweak
At my most prodigious beak,
And this stomach, old and fat,
They take many a kick at that,
For they love to hear me grunt
As they trample on my front.

Now the lovely Ellen goes
With all fingers for my nose,
And she clutches at my ears
But no jury would agree
Till I can't keep back the tears,
'Tis assault and battery.

Men to prison have been sent
For assaults less violent.
Some are lingering in jail
And denied the right of bail;
But when such attacks begin
All I do is sit and grin!

HAPPIGRAMS

by ERICH BRANDEIS

Two of my friends just celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

They are an unusually happy couple and both assured me (each in private) that if they had their choice today they would choose the same mate.

"What is your formula for a happy marriage?" I asked the husband.

"Treat your wife as if you weren't married at all," he replied without hesitation.

"Respect each other's privacy. Don't open each other's mail. Don't ask embarrassing questions. Remember that a woman remains always a lady. And remember that word 'remember'. Remember birthdays, anniversaries, remember your courting days—remember your wife."

And all she said, when I asked her: "Just treat your husband like a boy. Be wife, mother and sweetheart to him and you'll get along fine."

And remember—it takes two to make and keep a bargain.

Former Governor Of Ohio Lives In Trailer Camp Now

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O.—From the pleasures and the mansions he once knew daily, "Honest Vic" Donahey, three times governor of Ohio and once a U. S. senator, has retired to the everyday modesty of a trailer camper's life.

Half a mile from the heart of Columbus, capital of the nation's "fourth state", Donahey has had an ultra smart modern trailer mounted on concrete blocks 100 feet to the rear of the big stone building where he presides as head of an automobile insurance firm.

The trailer is successor to a sleek cabin cruiser which he kept on the Potomac while he was in Washington. It is replete with modern conveniences. There he serves succulent steaks, fine fresh vegetables and man-sized cuts of apple pie to guests who come to enjoy his own culinary masterpieces.

Vic Donahey, he'd have you know, is no amateur with a spatula and skillet, a broiler or an oven. He knows his vitamins as well as the palates of his guests and his geniality as a host is talked of far and wide.

So in these days of tire rationing, transportation problems and high rents, "Honest Vic" lives serenely in his trailer with Mrs. Donahey and, come a rainy day, he spryly ducks between the drops to his office 100 feet away.

Nelson Breaks Old Traditions

Emerges As One-Man Civilian Ministry Of Supply" It Is Revealed

TO BUY BILLIONS OF WAR SUPPLIES

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 20—Culminating weeks of undercover negotiation and discussion, Donald M. Nelson emerged today as a one-man "civilian ministry of supply."

The buying of the billions of dollars worth of war supplies needed to meet President Roosevelt's tremendous armament goals will be done under the explicit direction of the war production czar and his purchasing aides.

Exercising the vast powers vested in him by the president, Nelson has quietly but firmly broken down tradition, shunted the armed services aside and taken over the reins of war procurement.

Nelson and his civilian experts will lay down the buying policies and the army, navy, maritime commission and other federal war agencies will hew to the line.

The actual mechanics of purchasing — negotiation, placement and administration of contracts—will be left to the armed services, which also will, of course, perform their customary functions of determining military requirements.

Under Nelson's Direction

But the broad policies governing war procurement, the determination of purchases prices and contract terms will be carried on under the general direction of Nelson.

The move climaxes oft-repeated congressional criticism of tradition-bound procurement methods of the armed services and the demands for civilian direction of buying in order to speed up procurement of vital war equipment for the nation's battle with the Axis.

Although Nelson was vested last January with "General direction over the war procurement and production program," it required countless hours of negotiation and manouvering before he was able to overcome resistance within the services and put the procurement half of the order formally into effect.

First he upset traditional purchasing policies of the army and navy by eliminating competitive bidding in favor of negotiated contracts and then placed his own aides in the inner councils of the purchasing branches of the armed forces.

Disclosure that centralization of procurement policy finally had been concentrated in Nelson's office came in a joint memorandum, signed by Nelson and Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson, which outlined the "relationships between the WPB and the War Department."

The document said that the various "war supply organizations" should be viewed as a "single integrated system operating under the general direction" of Nelson and ruled out any group of "autonomous or semi-autonomous organizations acting in mere liasion with one another."

The memorandum made it clear that, although top responsibility is vested in Nelson and the WPB, cooperation is expected and, in fact, demanded from the services.

It also directed that standardization of the multitudionous types of war equipment and supplies shall be made in order to conserve materials, facilities and manpower and permit rapid mass production of the articles.

Nelson also severed "red tape" in relations between the WPB and the War Department, banning "layering"—the process by which subordinates must go up through the layers of his superiors, across the top of an agency to another agency and then down through additional layers to the subordinate responsible for decision or action.

Young Home Is Damaged By Fire

City firemen were called to the home of Attorney Charles H. Young of 314 Wallace avenue at 11:15 o'clock this morning, when damage of around $200 was done.

Mrs. Young had tried to light an aromatic candle in the living room, and it is believed that sparks from the match dropped on the davenport, setting it afire and spreading to the drapes about a large front window. Mrs. Young tried to extinguish the blaze but was unsuccessful.

Oil Production In U. S. Could Supply World

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — Simply by abandoning the policy of conservation, this nation's 380,000 oil wells could provide more oil than the whole world produced last year.

This was the assurance given by John D. Gill, economist of the Atlantic Refining Company, who said he made his reckoning after figuring the oil production lost to the United Nations as a result of the seizure of Borneo and Sumatra by the Japanese.

"Since Singapore, the United States has become more than ever the Allied source of liquid fuels and lubricants," he said. "With Borneo and Sumatra in the enemy's hands, 62,000,000 barrels annual production were lost to the Allies, though, due to the courageous use of the scorched-earth policy, not all of it was gained by the Japanese.

"But the loss of this production to the Allies greatly increases the transportation problem. Sixty-two million barrels may not seem so much to our country's annual consumption, but it is nearly two and one-half times as much as Japan used in peace time for all purposes, and five times as much as the combined crude oil production of the Axis powers."

He predicted the war will be won by the nation best able to supply oil and oil products to its armed forces.

Keeping up with the Joneses isn't so difficult. The latest Who's Who lists 60,000 persons and there are only 150 Joneses.

New Castle Post Office Established Here In 1812

Folks who kick about the high price of mailing a letter should have lived in the good old days when the New Castle post office was first established. This was way back on November 21, 1812, and Joseph Boyd was the first postmaster.

Mail was received here but once a week, and there is little doubt but that the arrival of mail, probably in saddlebags, on the back of a trusty horse, was an event of no little importance.

Records from the library of the United States post office at Washington, D. C., do not show the first service to the New Castle office. It is known, however, that for the period from January 1, 1814, to December 1, 1817, one Mattison Hart was the contractor for service, once a week, on a route which ran from Greensburg to New Castle. From November 1, 1815, to December 1, 1817, J. F. Boyd was the contractor for service on a route which ran from New Castle to Mercer.

At the time the office here was established, the following postage rates were in effect:

For every letter composed of a single sheet of paper, conveyed for a distance not exceeding 40 miles, 8 cents; over 40 miles and not exceeding 90 miles, 10 cents; over 90 miles and not exceeding 150 miles, 12½ cents; over 150 miles and not exceeding 500 miles, 20 cents; over 500 miles, 25 cents. Every double letter, that is, two pieces of paper, double said rates; every triple letter, or three pieces of paper, triple rates, and for every packet composed of four or more pieces of paper, or other thing, and weighing one ounce avoirdupois, quadruple said rates, and in that proportion for greater weights.

The earliest record of compensation to the postmaster at New Castle, shows that for the fiscal year of 1825, he received the munificent sum of $32.88. The earliest record of receipts at the office is for the year 1827, when net receipts were $70.54.

The records reveal that the first money order business was established at New Castle on October 1, 1887. The first city service was established on October 1, 1887, with five carriers. The first rural delivery service was established on October 15, 1890, with one carrier, who received $500 per annum.

Postmasters, with their date of appointment, are as follows:

Joseph Boyd, November 21, 1812; Robert W. Stewart, February 22, 1839; David Tidball, Jr., December 18, 1840; Joseph T. Boyd, July 31, 1841; David Tidball, Jr., January 6, 1843; David Shafer, May 27, 1843; William H. Reynolds, April 20, 1848; William H. Shaw, May 1, 1849.

The office was changed into Lawrence county with its establishment, around this time, but the exact date is not shown in the records of the library.

On March 29, 1853, David Tidball was again appointed postmaster when the office was in Lawrence county. Others who followed him were: Alexander Newell, December 1, 1856; Alva H. Leslie, October 23, 1860; David Emery, April 8, 1861; Hiram J. Ramsdell, special agent, May 3, 1867; David Tidball, July 19, 1867; Edwin Irwin Agnew, March 22, 1881; William Gordon, April 1, 1885; James M. Clark, March 26, 1889; George B. Gibson, April 14, 1893; John B. Brown, May 12, 1897; John A. McKee, December 16, 1902; David A. Moore, June 14, 1912; Harry Good, June, 1916; Judson C. Norris, acting, August 1, 1924; Judson C. Norris, December 17, 1924; Edwin W. Crawford, acting, February 1, 1927; Edwin W. Crawford, January 10, 1928; Kale S. MacNab, June 10, 1932; Richard A. Steen, acting, October 2, 1933; Richard A. Both Wrists Are Fractured

Mrs. Ethel Gates, of 525 Lyndal street, who is confined to her home is getting along as well as can be expected. While visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ransom W. Barris, of the Mt. Jackson road, she fell down cellar steps Tuesday, striking cement floor, fracturing both wrists.

AIR LINE PILOTS TO INCREASE TIME

Will Serve 100 Hours Per Month In Move To Aid War Effort

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Two thousand of the nation's air line pilots today voted to increase their monthly flying time from 85 to 100 hours a month as congress prepared to extend the legal time limit because of the army and navy requirements for "experienced pilots."

In response to the growing need for pilots with military experience, President David L. Behncke of the Air Line Pilots Association said that conferences with government officials have been in progress to determine the number of pilots who can be released from commercial lines without crippling defense transportation facilities.

Behncke said that Rep. Clarence F. Lea (D) Calif., chairman of the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, will soon introduce a bill in congress to defer for the duration of the war the 85-hour monthly flying limit.

The measure, which has the endorsement of Brig. Gen. Donald H. Connolly, military director of civil aviation; L. Welch Pogue, chairman of the civil aeronautics board, and the war department, would countermand the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938 requiring an 85-hour limit.

As a safeguard for the air-travelling public, Behncke stressed the fact fact that "these extra hours be used solely for military needs," and will not apply to commercial flying time."

Missionaries At Pentecostal Church

Rev. And Mrs. Arthur E. Sandahl To Speak At Local Church This Evening

This evening at 7:45 o'clock, Rev. Arthur E. Sandahl, a returned missionary from Malaya and Singapore, will speak at the First Pentecostal church, corner of Pearson and Epworth streets.

At the time they left on their furlough, Mr. and Mrs. Sandahl were given several costumes by their native friends which they display here in America.

Mr. Sandhal is a graduate of Southern California Bible college. In 1934, he went to Kunning, Yunnan, Southwest China, where the Burma road now terminates. Later, he went to Kuala Lumpar, capitol of Malaya, and the Sakai work. Mrs. Sandahl is the former Esther Johnson, a classmate of Mr. Sandahl's from Southern California Bible college. She has also spent some time in South China and Singapore as a missionary. In addition to spending five years in Malaya, the Sandahls have also spent some time in Thailand, formerly known as Siam.

Rev. A. Newton Chase is pastor of the Pentecostal church.

Britain's 'Atagirls' Fly All New Warplanes From Factories To Airfields

BI MURDOCH HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON—Meet the "Atagirls," members of the women's section of the Air Transport Auxiliary.

Their job is to ferry planes from factory to aerodrome.

Among the forty odd women members are mothers and wives.

They start their tough day about 7 a. m. in their billets where they set out to their secret headquarters. Here, a large transport plane awaits them. It is popularly known as the "flying bus."

When all have arrived, they crowd into the "flying bus" and sit on the floor while another Atagirl pilots them to various factories where they are detailed to take newly tested planes to aerodromes.

The "flying bus" is not very comfortable, it is not meant to be. It is war-time.

While they are in the transport, they receive their orders for the day from their leader, Captain Pauline Gower, famous woman flier.

At the factories, the factory superintendent takes one or two Atagirls from the "flying bus" to planes waiting to be flown to aerodromes.

One or two girls are dropped at each factory.

Sometimes, the Atagirl is faced with a plane of which she has had no previous experience. But her job is to get into the plane and take it intact to an awaiting 'drome'.

Once the plane is taken to the 'drome, the Atagirl waits for the "flying bus" to come for her and take her back to headquarters or to another factory.

Sometimes, through bad weather, the old transport doesn't arrive. When in this position, the Atagirl has to find her own way home.

More than once Atagirls have "thumbed" their way home scores of miles, complete with parachute, after a hard day's work.

Up to now, the Atagirls have only piloted heavy and light trainers.

In the near future, they will be handling the complicated controls of British bombers. This is a responsibility which the Atagirls have been hoping for since they were first formed at the beginning of the war.

They also cherish the ambition of ferrying bombers across the Atlantic.

Although they are fighting for this privilege, it is not likely to be granted. . . yet.

The Atagirls have to fly in all kinds of weather without any help from radio or the ground. They do all their flying by map.

No woman is accepted for the Atagirls unless she has had at least 250 flying hours to her credit. Some of them have flown for well over 2,000 flying hours.

War Need For Physicians And Dentists Rises

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA. — Uncle Sam plans to ask every physician, dentist and veterinarian in the United States to volunteer for the duration of the war in military, government, industrial and civil agencies needing their services.

Dr. Robert H. Nones, Jr., colonel in the Army Dental Reserve Corps, disclosed the scheme in his capacity as chairman of the State Procurement and Assignment Service for dentists. The P. A. S. was recently established by direction of President Roosevelt.

Dr. Nones revealed that every member of the health professions will get an enrollment form on which to designate his first four choices of agencies in need of help. He further satted:

"The most urgent need is for men under 36, although many specialists up to 45 years of age will be needed at once, also." Explained Dr. Nones:

"The Procurement and Assignment Service expects that the present needs of the armed services for medical personnel will be filled by those under 45. Other age groups will be held in readiness to fill requisitions."

Approximately 15,000 to 20,000 members of the medical professions in the country have already volunteered their aid, he said. All applications for commissions from such men will be passed upon by the P. A. S., Dr. Nones added.

Sea Lions Return For Stork Date

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—Only a few remaining stragglers remain to be convoyed through the waters of the Pacific.

Source—Farrallone Islands.

Destination—Seal Rocks.

To be convoyed—remaining mama sea lions and offspring.

In a traditional rite, papa sea lions convoy mama sea lions to the Farrallones whence and only whence does the stork seem to deliver baby sea lions.

During the interim from July until the first breath of sea lion spring, mama sea lion has her blessed event and then instructs the baby sea lion on the finer arts of swimming.

Papa sea lion, in the meantime, rests at Seal Rocks.

With the two-week period of sea lion convoying over, housekeeping is again being set up at Seal Rocks.

'UBENDUM WEMENDUM'

(International News Service)

LONDON — "Ubendum Wemendum" is the motto of the engineering section of one group of bomber stations in Britain. It appears beneath an emblem consisting of an arm grasping a spanner. Around it is printed "Royal Air Force Plumbers Union." The emblem is a reply to those who jokingly refer to the engineers as "The Plumbers."

Says College Graduates Must Preserve Nation's Intellectual Leadership

(International News Service)

DENVER—The nation's six million college graduates must take upon themselves the task of preserving the intellectual leadership of the United States.

For those six million men and women of education will in the end determine whether the light of learning and freedom is to be saved from the blackout of education that has darkened practically every other part of the world.

Those opinions were the pith of an address in Denver by George Heighway of Indiana university, president of the American Alumni council, before a conference of officials of several Colorado colleges and universities.

"College graduates are far more important than they think they are," he said. "They must recognize their own responsibilities as the most potent group in the preservation of American education and the democratic spirit.

Source Of Leadership

"It is the doctor, the lawyer, the economist and the college graduate in business and other professions who must provide the leadership in guarding against a deterioration of our great mass educational system during and after the war."

He called for re-examination of the alumni program in the light of war conditions and for a campaign to bring home to educated men and women everywhere the severe tests now facing the American educational system.

"The college graduate must necessarily be the potential leader in preserving education, which is the real core of democracy," he declared.

He blamed college administrators themselves for failing to recognize the importance of "the great alumni group."

"Too often the administrators have regaraded alumni merely as a necessary evil who are always demanding seats on the 50-yard line at football games," he said.

The American Alumni council of which Heighway is head is comprised of alumni officers of more than 300 American colleges and universities.

ECONOMICAL STATIONERY

(International News Service)

BURLINGTON, Vt.—No one can deny that state tax commissioner Erwin Harvey practices what he preaches—economy When sending a routine letter to Governor William Willis, the Green Mountain State tax commissioner used the back of wallpaper. "Please note the economy stationery on which this letter is written," Harvey wrote on the bottom of the letter.

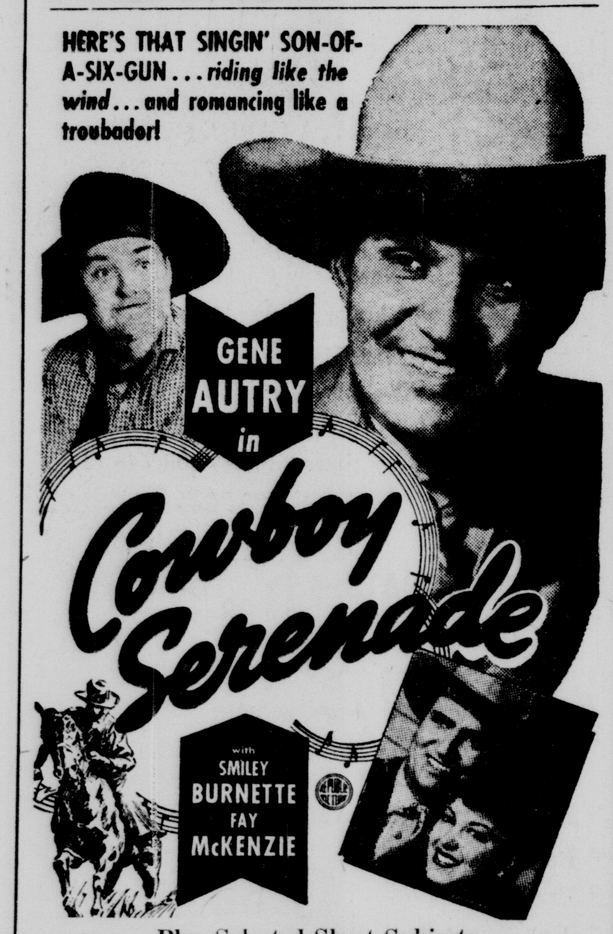

The first permanent theater built in Manhattan island was the John Street playhouse, built in 1767. It remained until 1799 practically the only theater in the city.

Canteen Corps Proves Readiness In Test Thursday

Corps Is Assembled On Short Notice And Provides Meal For 150 Persons

Under the direction of Mrs. William L. Cosel, chairman, and Mrs. E. H. Wilmarth, her assistant, the canteen corps of the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross, proved it is ready for any emergency, when it was called together on short notice Thursday, and got together an appetizing meal at an average cost of 13 cents per person.

The meal was served to members of the Instructors First Aid class, which is meeting each evening this week in the George Washington Junior High school.

As soon as the mobilization order was sounded, Mrs. Cosel called the four canteen corps leaders and their aides; Corps No. 1, Mrs. Arthur B. Foster and Mrs. Verne Dufford; Corps No. 2, Mrs. D. G. Hildebrand and Mrs. Roy A. Long; Corps No. 3, Mrs. Thomas Sadler and Miss Eleanor Horner, and Corps No. 4, the Flying Corps of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Russell Allen, chairman, and Mrs. Louis Morrelli, co-chairman. They in turn summoned their workers.

In the meantime, William B. Howe, chairman of the food procurement committee, and his assistant, Jack Preston, were notified and they secured the necessary food. The Motor Corps, under Mrs. James M. Smith Jr., furnished transportation.

It was cooked under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Ward, who recently instructed the canteen corps of men and women workers, and a splendid job was done by Mrs. Ward and her aides.

At the dinner, Miss Margaret E. Bodenstein, executive director of the chapter, presided, and talks were given by Chapter Chairman Ralph F. Davis and Robert G. Zubrod.

With Men In U. S. Service

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smiolowski, of 20 Magee street, that their son, Private Walter Smiolowski, in company with Private Colabella, both of the Medical Corps, have been quarantined for two months waiting upon an enlisted man suffering from a very serious ailment. During that time neither of these men have stepped out of that room. So, all is not roses with the medical corps department. These two soldier boys say, "For the first time in our lives we feel that we are really doing something." The boys are stationed at Fort Hancock, N. J.

Private Cosy Kye Casacchia, who is stationed at the United States Marine base in Kodiak, Alaska, has written an interesting letter in which he lauds army life. He stresses the fact that everything is going well.

Corporal Herman Kitchen, who is now stationed at Quantico, Va., spent five days the past week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kitchen, Croton avenue.

PRICE CEILING ON MOTOR FUEL

Prices Will Be Frozen At March 13 Levels Beginning Next Monday

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 20—Motorists along the eastern seaboard and in Oregon and Washington will have to get along on less gasoline, but they are assured that what they can buy won't cost them any more.

As an order went into effect Thursday curtailing deliveries of gasoline by 20 per cent in 17 Atlantic states, the District of Columbia and the two western states, the office of price administration fixed a price ceiling on the motor fuel.

Effective next Monday, the order "freezes" filling station prices for gasoline at the March 13 levels. The order was temporary and is expected to be followed within 60 days by a permanent regulation.

In addition to gas reduction, filling stations must not operate over 12 hours a day in a 72 hour week. This is expected to result in general weekday operations of from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. and gasless Sundays.

Tanker sinkings on the eastern seaboard, plus diversion of other tankers to military authorities are responsible for a reduction in consumption.

The price and reduction orders apply in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Oregon, Washington, the District of Columbia and that part of Florida east of the Apalachiocola river.

Acting price administrator John E. Hamm warned that under the price control law violators of the price ceiling will be subject to $5,000 fine and one year's imprisonment.

APPLE PIE PREFERRED

(International News Service)

BOSTON—Here is a tip to wives, future wives and mothers of men in the United States Army: the lad loves apple pie above all toothsome desserts.

The Quartermaster Corps, whose duty it is to know such vittle statistics, placed the pie first in a list of 10 favorites on the dessert list. Ice cream is second and the doughnut third.

Elks To Attend Annual Roundup

Will Go To Beaver Falls On Saturday—Grand Exalted Ruler To Be Guest

A large delegation from New Castle Elks Lodge, No. 69, headed by Exalted Ruler Verne Carr will journey to Beaver Falls, Saturday, March 21, for the twelfth annual Round-Up of the Northwest District Association, comprising 17 Western Pennsylvania lodges. Special guest of the affair will be Grand Exalted Ruler, Judge John S. McClelland, of Atlanta, Ga.

Elks and state and grand lodge dignitaries will gather at 6 o'clock in the Hotel Brodhead for a stag banquet; some 150 candidates—to be initiated later in the evening in a special Win-The-War class—will be banqueted at St. Mary's R. C. church. The ritualistic ceremony at 8:15 o'clock in the lodge hall will be conducted by officers of district lodges, chosen in recent competition. There will be special music by the orchestra of Franklin Lodge.

Students Study How To Save Sugar

Students At McKeesport High School Using Sugar Substitutes

(International News Service)

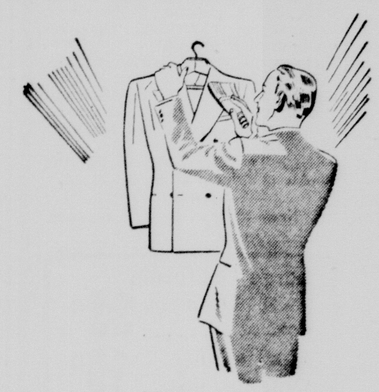

McKEESPORT, Pa., March 20—After a recent survey revealed that Americans waste an enormous amount of sugar every day, food administrators asked housewives and cooking students to learn more economical ways of using it.

Students at McKeesport High School have tackled the problem and are including in their home economic course pointers on sugar saving.

Substitutes that will provide the sweetness of the rationed ingredient—honey, for instance—are being utilized by the senior girl students. Recipes that call for little or no sugar are in great demand.

Judging from appearances the important question in the minds of suitors will no longer be "can she cook?" but "can she cook—without sugar?"

Richman Brothers Offer A Few Suggestions For Making Your Clothes Wear Longer

1. —Brush your clothes thoroughly, often, and prevent the accumulation of dust, grit, etc., which work into the fabric, and shorten the life of your suits, coats and trousers.

2. —Have your clothes dry-cleaned regularly by a competent, reliable cleaner . . . and when not in service, preserve their good looks and shape by hanging them on a curved wooden hanger.

3. —Change your clothes as often as possible. While you wear them, they absorb body moisture and are under constant strain. Give them a rest, and let the air get to them. You will thus add a surprisingly long time to their serviceability.

4. —Make certain they are good, well made clothes, when you buy them . . . for you must have good clothes to begin with. For long wear and all around satisfaction, Richman Brothers Clothes are the finest you can buy in their price class.

NO MORE ONIONS

(International News Service)

LONDON—The last of Britain's onions has been distributed.

Early last summer, the Ministry of Food promised a minimum allowance of 2 lbs. per head of population—but rainy August weather cut the expected onion crop to less than a third of what had been expected.

To make up for the deficiency, the government bought several consignments from Spain but even this allowed the population only slightly more than a pound per person.

Rabbits Thrive After Jacknife Caesarean Birth

(International News Service)

FRESNO, Cal., March 20—Fresno's quintuplets were doing nicely following a jacknife operation that saved their lives.

They are five tiny jack rabbits who owe their lives to a caesarean operation performed by H. C. Carpenter, Mrs. Carpenter, and a jacknife.

The operation was not performed until it was nearly too late, but care in its performance brought success.

"The tiny rabbits are doing nicely, but they do not care very much for canned milk. We feed them every four hours with two drops each of canned milk," Mr. Carpenter said.

Mr. Carpenter found the mother rabbit while hunting near his home. The rabbit had been shot through the head, and it was feared that an operation would be unsuccessful.

Old wail: 'Too late and too little." New slogan: "Too much and too quick for the Japs."

Pennsylvanians Don't Eat Enough Fruits And Greens

Victory Garden Committee Urges Sources Of Vitamins And Minerals

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 20—Pennsylvanians eat less than half of the fresh fruits and vegetables necessary to maintain health standards in war time, according to the victory garden committee of the state council of defense.

Following a survey of the diets of residents of representative communities throughout Pennsylvania, a sub committee reported that:

1. War time diets contain less than half of the horticultural products necessary for the best nutrition. 2. Residents in fruit-growing areas consume a sufficient quantity of apples and peaches but eat an inadequate amount of vegetables. 3. Consumption of fruits and cegetables rise with the increases in income but many high-income groups fail to eat enough of these products.

The sub-committee recommends as all-round sources of vitamins A. B. C., and calcium and iron, plenty of beans, cabbage, chard, collards, kale, lettuce, parsnips, spinach, squash, tomatoes and turnips.

District Nurses To Discuss Needs

Annual Banquet Will Take Place In Pittsburgh In Near Future

Miss Isabel M. Stewart, director of Department of Nursing Education of Teachers college, Columbia University will be the guest speaker at the annual banquet of the American Nurses Association, District No. 6, at the Schenley hotel, Pittsburgh on May 7.

One of the big problems for discussion will be the need for more nurses throughout the country. Civilian hospitals throughout the country have been taxed to capacity since the defense boom began. Better fitted pocketbooks of farmers, wage earners, and white collar forces, as well as the hospital plan which makes hospital facilities available for three cents a day, have brought more patients to hospitals and clinics for operations and treatment, neglected in leaner times.

In addition, hundreds of nurses are entering the service to man army and navy hospitals. This has further depleted the nursing ranks, which are not sufficient in normal times.

Organize To Fight Plant Diseases

Pennsylvania Plant Pathologists Join With Other States In Effort

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 20.—Plant pathologists of Pennsylvania have organized with those of six other eastern states to fight plant disease, Dr. R. S. Kirby, chairman of the phytopathologists' war emergency committee and supervisor at Pennsylvania State College announced.

Since plant disease destroy vast amounts of food crops annually, thus constituting a threat to American war-time agriculture, the group will work in connection with the national war emergency committee.

The organization will search for substitute fungicides and will seek ways to "stretch" supplies now available. They will also gather the latest unpublished information and crop disease outbreak reports, and relay them to growers through extension services.

Statement By Police Chief

McMullen Discusses Police Pension Fund And Council Action

Speaking, not as a member of the Fraternal Order of police but as chief of police, and director of men who compose that body, Willis G. McMullen today issued a statement concerning council proceedings anent the police pension fund story printed about the council meeting. In fact, Chief McMullen, while a member, does not attend meetings since he became the head of the police.

McMullen said that the police fund is derived from a per capital per month assessment of $3.50, an appropriation from the city taxes and from money derived from outside activities of police.

He stated that there is an ordinance on the city books which says all funds derived from outside activities should be placed in the pension fund.

The foregoing mentioned ordinance was adopted during a previous administration and he said there has been time and again talk of it being repealed.

McMullen said money derived from outside activities helps to increase the fund but pointed out that the police believe that some of this money should be retained for their own needs, such as uniforms.

The chief said that several years ago approximately $2,500 was raised through outside activities and the money was employed to buy equipment for the police department.

Had it not been used for this the equipment would have cost the taxpayers the same amount. The equipment went far toward increasing the efficiency of the department, he explained.

He said that time and again police uniforms are damaged or ruined while police are doing their duty and he believes, like other police, that some of the money from outside activities should go for this.

McMullen also said that the Fraternal order of police has contributed to all worthy charities and donations also have been made to police injured in action or who become sick while on duty, because after a policeman is off duty 30 days he is cut off the payroll. In addition the F.O.P. pays the family of each policeman who dies $100, he stated.

The chief also declared that the local F.O.P. contributes to the grand lodge and that monies now and then are needed to send lodge delegates to state and grand lodge sessions and McMullen added he believes that money should be available if a policeman needs essential things. For instance $10 is sent to each policeman after he enters military service.

He does not believe that all the money derived from outside activities should be placed in the police pension fund because there are times when the F.O.P. needs sums for legitimate purposes.

The chief also explained that the efficiency of the police department is proved by a report of the F.B.I. which says crime is below the average for cities populated like New Castle.

SHEAR ECONOMY

(International News Service)

FORT RILEY, Kan., Cavalry Replacement Training Center — Pvt. Francis Heneghen of Yakima, Wash., cavalryman at the Replacement Training Center here, has conclusively demonstrated that the army teaches a man to be economical. Assigned to shear horses in the stables, Heneghen dumbfounded fellow-troopers and horses alike when he turned the shears on his own red locks and gave himself a regulation haircut. He lost his hair, but he saved 35 cents.

MONMOUTH, Me.—A Rhode Island Red pullet is cooperating with Uncle Sam's appeal for all-out food production. The bird is owned by the Harco Orchards Poultry Farm in South Eastern Massachusetts and appeared at the Maine egg laying test.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 20.—Possibilities appear good for the enactment of legislation at the special session of the legislature boosting unemployment compensation benefits. Last year the two houses were unable to agree upon what amendments should be made and no legislation was approved. This, however, is a general election year and for that reason both Republican and Democratic legislators are expected to make a strenuous effort to assure workers greater benefits when they are thrown out of work.

Republicans last year wished to give the unemployed another 50 cents a week in the minimum amount payable, boosting it from $7.50 to $8, while leaving the present maximum weekly payment of $15 without change. Democrats wished to increase the minimum to $9 and the maximum to $18. This year the Republicans are still holding out for a 50 cent minimum increase, but have agreed to raise the maximum to $18, but the the Democrats are calling for $19 and $20. The Democrats wish to require only one week of unemployment before payments are made, but the Republicans again are insisting on a two-week delay, in place of the present three weeks. The unemployment compensation fund now totals approximately $230,000,000.

Legislative leaders are accused of delaying legislation to aid their own candidacies. Rep. Robert J. Cordier, Republican, of Scranton, said it would be a good idea if legislative leaders who are "candidates for public office" take a recess so the other members of the house and senate can complete the work. "I have reached the conclusion," said Cordier, "that the reason for delay on a cohesive program might be due to the fact that so many house and senate leaders are candidates for public office in the May 19 primary. All are leaders but they are too cautious in taking definite steps for fear something may happen to hamstring their campaigns."

House Democratic leaders intend to rewrite a senate-approved bill authorizing local governments to appropriate money for defense activities. The measure permits them to raise funds through increased taxes. House Floor Leader Leo A. Achterman appeared to think there was a need for such legislation, but suggested it should be couched in broader terms. Both Achterman and Rep. Homer S. Brown of Allegheny, house constitutional authority, said it was up to the state, rather than localities, to protect the civilian population.

Dr. Luther A. Harr of Philadelphia, U. S. bituminous coal consumers' counsel, will remain in the Democratic gubernatorial fight until the last vote is counted, asserts Democratic State Chairman Meredith Meyers, his chief backer. Replying to rumors that Harr would withdraw, Meyers flatly stated: "Harr will not withdraw." Harr had earlier offered to withdraw if Democratic leaders could agree upon a "harmony" candidate.

Every Family Should Follow Budget Plan In Present Situation

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright—1942—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., March 20. —Income taxes this month hit a larger group than ever. Thousands of individuals, after making payments, see the need of giving more careful thought to their personal expenditures for the balance of the year. For the first time they are considering making up a budget. Probably, however, few individuals have ever stayed with a budget to the bitter end and won a decision! However, with much higher taxes in the offing, many charitable calls, and the absolute necessity of buying defense bonds, more than the ordinary amount of planning is now needed to "make ends meet".

BABSON

Budgets Are Tough

I'll take a chance on most anything including a forecast as to the time of the ending of the war and as to what stocks if any, are a buy! When it comes to recommending a budget, however, my head and my knees go back on me. Unless one is familiar with all the individual and family circumstances, only a catch-as-catch-can program can be outlined. Furthermore, the so-called human element is so unpredictable that it is doubly hard to make any budget recommendations with assurances that they will work out.

Here are some of the things I hear today: A truck driver with an annual income of $1600 says, "I have no money in the bank to pay my next tax installment but will borrow from friends." A junior executive earning $2700 says, "I'll have to save every penny from now on." He's starting a little late! An executive, who earned $3000 last year, confesses, "Unfortunately I didn't save anything. I had to use the installment plan." A government worker earning $1900 says, "I paid my income tax on the 15th but now am broke".

Who Should Budget?

There's only one answer to this, namely, our 40,000,000 families should at once start making a budget. If I were a young man, exempt from military service and contemplating a business career, I'd go into the "budget business". Most successful corporations prepare and adhere strictly throughout the year to a predetermined budget. Through an examination of the past year's production figures, receipts and expenditures, plus an analysis of the business outlook for their particular industry, they are usually able to come within a fraction of a per cent in forecasting what their current year's income, expenses and profit, or deficit, will be.

This, perhaps, is too much to ask of the individual; but, especially this year, an attempt should be made to plan coming expenditures as well as hoped-for savings. The job should, if anything, be easier now that the purchase of many things for civilian use is restricted. Many families may be pleasantly surprised by how little in the way of new goods they will need to get by on this year. It will be a good thing for once to cut out random spending, to operate strictly on a budget, and to watch the dollars pile up. Budgets—along with bullets—are needed to win World War II.

The Average Income

With out national income now running at the rate of $90,000,000,000 per year, the total income of each family averages $2250. Of course, some families have larger incomes than $2250 and others have far less on which to get along. However, as family incomes rise above the present average of $2250 per year, the number of families so benefiting decreases rapidly. emember, that less than five per cent of the people receiving any income at all have more than $5,000 a year. Any pre-war arguments to the effect that the so-called mosey interests control our country are entirely fallacious. Control—politically and from a purchasing point of view—is embraced in the great mass of families which have incomes of even less than $2250 per year.

A Suggested Budget

Let me assume that an average family of four, of which two are children, has, after provision is made for Social Security payments, a net income of $2250. This may seem small potatoes to a few readers of this column, but let me say that an income of this size is not to be sneezed at. Personally, I am more interested in how families in this income group handle their money than I am in how those in the larger income brackets spend their money.

The above family might disburse its funds as follows:

Savings and taxes	$ 223
Food	627
Clothing	290
Housing	577
Transportation	210
Personal & Misc.	260
Benevolences	63
	$2250

Conclusion

In spite of Social Security, a family's first duty is to preserve its own economic independence. Thus, I have allocated nearly 10 per cent of the average family's net income to taxes and savings. This is a relatively per cent and the majority of families never anywhere near reach it. About half this saving should go into straight life insurance and the balance kept in a savings bank account or invested in defense bonds. Savings, as well as steel, will do much to win this war. I again urge my readers to get out of debt as soon as possible; but by all means make out a budget today and stick to it. It also is advisable to set up a little reserve. When World War II is finally over, credit may be hard to get!

Add a few drops of vinegar to the water when washing greasy dishes and the grease will come off easily.

Before the Civil War there were few women school teachers, telephone operators or typewriters.

WIFE AND HUSBAND BOTH PRAISE RETONGA

Was In So Much Distress At Times Life Hardly Seemed Worth Living, Declares Mrs. Williams.

Testing Retonga in their own stubborn cases and happily relieved, hundreds of well known men and women throughout this section are praising this noted medicine. Among the thousands throughout this section is Mrs. Dema Williams, well known resident of Racine, W. Va.:

"At times I was in so much distress from indigestion that life hardly seemed worth living," declares Mrs. Williams. "I had no appetite, and if I did force myself to eat, so much gas formed in my stomach that sometimes it seemed to affect my circulation and I would feel numb all over. Sluggish elimination was another trouble and I was continually taking harsh purgatives. I never slept restfully, and I felt so weak and rundown that my house work seemed a burden beyond my strength.

"My husband had taken Retonga with fine results, and it relieved my distress after everything else I tried had failed. I now eat what I want, I sleep like a log, and I have regained several pounds. The constipation is relieved too, and I don't know when my nerves have felt so steady. Both my husband and I are more grateful to Retonga than words can express."

Retonga is a purely herbal gastric tonic combined with Vitamin B-1. Thousands praise it. Retonga may be obtained at Eckerd's and Pay Less Store.—Adv.

Finds State Is Ready For Alert

Survey Reveals Majority Of Communities Are Ready For Air Raids

CONFERENCE MAY BE CALLED SOON

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 20—a majority of Pennsylvania's communities have sufficient air raid warning facilities to be used in the case of emergency, a survey conducted by the general state authority for the state council of defense revealed.

Little additional equipment is needed, the survey pointed out. On the basis of replies from most of the state's large cities and 75 per cent of the smaller communities, it was disclosed that only 20 compressed air units, 300 electric sirens, and ten steam whistles were needed. Philadelphia alone, accounted for more than one-third of the new sirens required. Pittsburgh did not give an estimate of its need.

Declaring that "the whole question of an effective type of alarm must be given new and serious study," Dr. A. C. Marts, executive director of the defense council has requested the U. S. office of civilian defense to call a meeting of defense leaders of the eastern states. This conference would decide upon a standard alarm device, and would give leaders an opportunity to exchange ideas and experiences, Marts contended.

If a regional conference is not called, the state council will bring together leaders of Pennsylvania cities to discuss the problem, he added.

"In nearly every one of the 50 practice blackouts conducted in Pennsylvania," Marts explained, "there have been large numbers of people who would not have known when to turn out their lights if they had not been told the exact time in advance. They did not hear the alarm.

News Briefs From City Hall

City Controller S. L. Lockley today reported that all books of the F. O. P. have been turned over to him, as directed by council in meeting Thursday. The question of the legitimacy of a proposed division of funds gained from police outside activities caused him to undertake the audit. The ordinance which claims monies from outside activities must be placed in the pension fund was adopted during a previous administration, it was reported.

Lieutenant of Police James P. Steiner today announced that parking of automobiles and other vehicles is permitted on the north side but not the south side of Madison avenue between Liberty and LaFayette streets. The lieutenant also stated that parking is prohibited bewen 6 a. m. and 6 p. m. on Neshannock avenue between East street and the I. O. O. F. building.

Kenneth Hook, age 13, of 519 West Washington street, has scarlet fever.

City-W.P.A. projects under way are at the Big Run, State street hill widening and the Wilson-Jackson avenues storm sewer.

According to reports a window in a rear door at the Perelman store was broken last night and it is believed that someone attempted to break into the jewelry store and was frightened away. Policeman Robert Hanna discovered the broken window.

Federal auto stamp was reportedly stolen from the car of Frank Porco of Mable street last night after it had been parked in Pearson street.

W. B. Brown has received a permit to remove a frame dwelling at 410 Highland avenue.

Police Chief W. G. McMullen today asserted that the city has three cars, one of which was bought new some time ago. In commenting upon the discussion in council Thursday, anent speeding, the chief said he had not dispatched the new car to catch speeders because the other two cars were not in good condition and, if the new car was sent after speeders, it, too, would soon become unfit. He declared he had kept the new car in reserve for possible hold-ups and other major crimes. However, a new car is to be delivered to the city soon and in view of remarks made Thursday by Mayor Charles B. Mayne, it is likely that efforts to stop speeding will be made.

If nature adjusts things, why does a man of 45 hunt vainly for love while available ladies of that age are invisible to him?

State To Open Tourist Drive

Slogan For Campaign Is "Keep Fit To Win The War"

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 20.—Pennsylvania will open its 1942 tourist campaign tomorrow with a slogan of "Keep Fit to Win the War," Secretary of Commerce Mark S. James disclosed today.

"Acquainting war workers in crowded centers of nearby states with the re-invigorating diversion awaiting them in Pennsylvania's rest areas and playgrounds is an essential contribution to the national welfare this year," said James.

"But it is also of high importance to Pennsylvania's economic life," the commerce secretary added, pointing out that in 1941, despite a threatened gasoline shortage and the infantile paralysis epidemic, vacationists retail expenditures in the state totaled close to $350,000,000. Persons seeking recreation have spent well above one billion dollars in Pennsylvania in the last three years.

The state plans this year to spend $95,000 on its advertising campaign, concentrating it in nearby states which are within easy driving distance of Pennsylvania. The money will be spent chiefly in newspapers and motor club magazines in the region extending from New York to Washington in the east and to Chicago and Detroit in the west. No nationwide campaign is planned as in former years.

"By this campaign," said James, "we hope to perform a patriotic service by helping our war planners and war workers maintain their efficiency and productivity by relaxing periodically in Pennsylvania from the speed-up of the war effort." All nations at war, he added, now recognize that vacations are necessary.

REACHES 101ST BIRTHDAY

(International News Service)

HONESDALE, Pa.—Charles Clark Spencer was congratulated on his 101st birthday recently by two younger brothers, John M. Spencer, 100, and David E. Spencer, 87. He was teaching school when Lincoln made the Gettysburg address. He is in excellent health and works daily in the yard of his home near here.

Pennsylvania's Home Front

(By International News Service)

Trustees of National Farm School in Doylestown are busy stepping up the institution's high level of production of war-time commodities. The school plans to enlarge and strengthen several of its departments and to improve the maintenance of the entire 1200-acre plant.

Training courses for women in a new type of war work—parachute rigging—are being started under the auspices of the Navy league in Philadelphia. Classes will be conducted two nights weekly at Wings Field, Ambler.

Villanova college has begun a compulsory physical fitness program for more than 800 students not engaged in varsity sports. The program, conducted by the various coaches, includes baseball, touch football, cross-country hikes, track, swimming and mass calisthenics.

Harassed defense workers who couldn't find houses in the Philadelphia area got a break from city council. The solons finally agreed to approve trailer camps within city limits. They even asked the government to establish trailer parks for war producers.

Down in Salisbury, Md., Homer Pilkinton believes he has a substitute for rubber. The substance, derived from a plant and unnamed chemicals, looks, feels and stretches like rubber. Neighbors said it smells like—something else.

Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette college, advises civilians to offer a silent prayer each day for an American war victory. "Be calm and constructive and buy defense bonds," he urged.

Indicative of the American spirit is a postcard sent by a woman in Williamsport to the office of price administration in Philadelphia. It said merely: "I'd be ashamed to hoard."

And in Camden, N. J., the 812 pupils of the lower county regional high school are going to forego all holidays and attend classes every Saturday. That will shorten the school term three weeks and enable the youngsters to work on farms in line with the war effort.

HOT AND COLD

(International News Service)

PALMER, Mass.—Some one had a bright idea to cool off a town meeting that was scheduled to hear some "hot" debates about local civic affairs. He turned the heat off and 260 Palmer citizens had to sit in their coats.

Yanks And Aussies Getting Along Well Says Newspaperman

(EDITOR'S NOTE: J. Stewart Legge, an Australian newspaperman who has seen American troops all over the commonwealth, today provides for International News Service a graphic description of how the Yanks are taking to the Aussies—and the Aussies to the Yank.)

By J. STEWART LEGGE
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, March 20.—Did some one in America ask how Australia liked having the Yanks about?

Did some American wife, mother or sweetheart wonder whether her man in the U. S. forces was behaving himself in Australia and whether he was being looked after?

I can give them all the answers. Every conversation I have heard between an Australian and an American during the past few weeks has contained the sentence:

"We are damned glad to have you here."

Australia knows its Diggers are the finest fighters in the world, but also knows we have not enough of them.

Australia is about the same size as the United States and 25 times the size of Great Britain. It is surrounded by ocean, with no allies available without a hazardous sea voyage. And it has a population comparable to London or New York.

This is the Australia your soldiers and airmen have come to help defend.

Australia Glad Yanks Arrive

Is Australia glad they're here? I'll say she is.

Are your men behaving themselves? For weeks they have been walking our streets, visiting our homes and refreshing themselves at our hotels and cafes. I have not seen one case of lack of good manners.

Our shop girls and waiters like their easy, smiling courteous way.

Your boys are having a great time spending their dollars here. For some weeks United States coinage has been legal tender in Australian stores, and the dollar which has been stabilized by the Australian government at six shillings, one penny—nearly fifty per cent above normal value—is purchasing the world for them.

The other day I came across two signallers from a place near New York. They were drinking champagne. They had discovered Warrington's famous hostelry in Melbourne, where you buy champagne over the counter at a few cents a glass. They also discovered that Australian beer is good and cheap.

Don't think from this that they were getting drunk. On the contrary. I repeat, their behavior was amazingly fine.

The officers I have entertained at luncheon will not even drink a glass of beer. They say:

"We are here on a big job. We'll have a party when we have time to go off duty."

Being Looked After

You asked how they are being looked after. Let me repeat a letter signed by a "Woman Reporter," which appeared in a Melbourne newspaper.

"To whom it may concern:

"Dear Madam, on behalf of the American sailors, soldiers and airmen in Melbourne I offer the following suggestions for entertaining them.

"I am aware of the risks. I'll take a chance because it is wartime and these boys need looking after. To contact them you've got to put your name down at the Australian comforts fund hospitality bureau at Town Hall. The Rev. Harry L. Hawkins, organizer, does the rest. (Hawkins was a Methodist chaplain with the Diggers in the middle east.)

"Now, here is what the men want. Parties—gay parties with swing music, redheads, strawberry blondes, beer, lots of sweet-smelling flowers and asparagus rolls.

"Tennis—Only if you can supply racquets, redheads and strawberry blondes.

"Bridge—Well, not unless you have to.

"Dinner—Don't make it too formal. Family dinner parties are nicer than dowagers and diplomats. Serve melons for sweets. They love them.

"Luncheon—Toheroa soup, sweet corn with melted butter sauce.

"Picture parties—Think twice before you take the plunge. They've seen most of our shows, anyway.

"Swimming—Only if very hot.

"Quiet evening at home—well, not too quiet please. Remember the strawberry blondes and redheads.

"Dances—and how! They love our big, uncrowded ballrooms. Here again your blonde and redhead friends will be useful.

"How do I know all this? I'm not giving away any secret, but its first-hand information straight from the horse's mouth.

"Signed: Yours in Earnest."

Getting Things Done

Let me quote you another instance of the way Australians want to look after your boys. When I introduced two officers of the United States headquarters for honorary membership in my club, a committee asked me "Why only two?"

The club then gave full membership facilities to every staff officer stationed at headquarters.

On the more serious side, the United States forces have been cutting red tape where necessary. Australian administration had some severe shocks, but it realized that the war now is here and that it is no time to parry over regulations framed during the piping times of peace.

If the United States forces want a fence removed, they remove it. At one air station, a telephone box was in the way of extensions. Instead of applying through the usual channels, involving a day's delay, they just moved it and asked about it afterward.

But the Australians like this. The American way of getting things done is proving a remarkable tonic to Australian life.

The queerly-built American army automobiles and the superbly-tailored American uniforms are now well-merged into the Australian landscape.

Australia has made America feel right at home.

Young People's Banquet-Rally Held

Young People's Groups Of Youngstown, Local District Have Annual Affair

Members of the Young People of the Youngstown district of the Primitive Methodist churches, and locals held their semi-annual banquet and rally at a local tearoom, Thursday evening. Over 50 attended, and Rev. J. A. Tinker pronounced the blessing.

A short program was enjoyed following the banquet, the chorus rendering selections, led by Betty Kite. A vocal solo, "Pilot Me," was sung by Louis Blair and Paul Blair favored with a trombone solo. Martha Black was the piano accompanist.

Rev. Paul Butler of the Christian Missionary Alliance church gave the message on "Daniel a young man of courage and courtesy." Benediction was given by Rev. Thomas Brown, of the First Primitive Methodist church of Youngstown.

Report Option On Site For Synthetic Rubber Plant

BEAVER, Pa., March 20—The Koppers United has taken an option for 68 acres of the Beaver county poor farm, it was announced today by Arthur Coombs, chairman of the board of commissioners.

The price was approximately $50,000. If the farm is sold, the county will have to abandon farming or raising dairy cattle. The Koppers United plans to erect a plant to cost $29,000,000 for the manufacture of synthetic rubber. Options have also been taken on the Toretter and Hostetter farms.

Harvard's Middle Name Is Yale, His Last, Princeton

(International News Service)

DOTHAM, Ala. — Classification officer at the advanced flying school at Dothan, Ala., thought someone was trying to be funny when the next fellow in line said:

"Harvard Princeton reporting, sir."

Blushingly, the young man repeated for the benefit of the officer, explaining:

"That's my name, sir, Harvard Y. Princeton."

"And, I suppose you'll tell me the 'Y' stands for Yale," the officer said cynically.

It did!

Further investigation disclosed that Harvard Yale Princeton is not, as his name might indicate, a college alumnus, having never finished high school.

One Way to Prevent Disease
and
Help Home Defense

Do you know that approximately one-half the yearly death rate is caused by diseases of the nose, throat, and lungs—such diseases, for instance, as colds, influenza, pneumonia, bronchitis, whooping-cough, diphtheria, tuberculosis and similar affections?

These facts were obtained by Dr. James G. Cumming, ex-Colonel of the Medical Division of the United States Army.

Dr. Cumming was chief medical officer of the army expedition into East Siberia, and while engaged in this work he was able to establish, without question or doubt, that diseases of the nose, throat, and lungs are transmitted very largely from hand to mouth.

Later on, as Director of Public Health, Philadelphia, Pa., he conducted numerous investigations in that city which dealt with hand cleanliness among children and its effect in the prevention of acute contagious diseases. The results in Philadelphia, he declares, coincide with those obtained in the army.

You can assist in the prevention of many such diseases by washing the hands frequently, especially before eating—use a soap that actually kills disease germs. Not all soaps do this, however, we will be glad to tell you about one that will actually destroy disease germs.

Philadelphia Women And Girls Recruited For Work In Vital Defense Plants

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — Thousands of Philadelphia women and girls are being trained to take on man-sized jobs in the vital war industries which supply the needs of Uncle Sam's fighting nephews all over the world.

The women will be recruited for work in the giant Frankford Arsenal, Ordnance Department, the Signal Corps and the Philadelphia Navy Yard, largest in the world.

C. D. Hertzog, district manager of the U. S. Civilian Service commission and director of the training program, reported a preliminary program, instituted shortly after the treacherous attack on Pearl Harbor, had turned out 300 workers whose skill was proved when they tackled their new jobs at the naval aircraft factory.

No previous experience or particular education is required of applicants, he explained, and they may be from 16 to 50 years old for Signal Corps work and from 18 to 40 for the other services. Except for the arsenal, this marks the first time woman have been hired to do mechanical work in government war plants in Philadelphia.

The rate of pay varies with the type of work.

At the Signal Corps Depot, the women will start at $1020 a year, and will be promoted to $1440 when the preliminary training course—lasting about six months—has been completed. After completing the advanced course, Herzog explained, the workers are eligible for $1620 positions.

In the Ordnance department, where most of the girls will inspect and gauge metallic parts used in making ammunition, they will start at $1020 a year and be promoted to $1260 after a short training period

The women will make mechanical fuses at the arsenal and will receive $2.56 a day, which will be increased to $3.04 and $3.60 during training. At present, Hertzog pointed out, the operatives average 25 per cent over the $3.60 standard rate.

Navy Yard pay starts at 50 cents an hour and increases to 69 cents as soon as the women learn the fundamentals of their work.

BATH PROBLEM

(International News Service)

LONDON—Because his two Land Girls wanted to bathe before the kitchen fire a Leicestershire farmer had to wait outside his house in the snow. Relating the above story of a friend at a farmers meeting at Leicester, Eng., recently Charles Copson said: "Some of our farms, for instance, have no baths, and when girls come expecting to be able to have two or three baths a week it creates a problem."

CANAL RESTRICTIONS

(International News Service)

BALBOA, C. Z.—The days of free entry and departure in the Canal Zone are gone. Residents and transients who have been in the Zone for more than 24 hours must get a departure permit from the Zone quarantine offices before transportation will be sold. Quarantine officials also will determine whether arrivals will be permitted to enter the Zone.

Now the Nazis say they are held up because the Russians had 28,000 of those worthless planes Lindbergh told us about.

SPEED RECORD

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—The Columbia Steel Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, recently announced a world record for speed in relining a blast furnace. The record, 31 days for the entire job, was established at the Ironton Blast Furnace operating near Provo, Utah, and is faster by 20 days than some records set by eastern plants.

DOG STAYS—TORNADO OR NO

After a tornado had struck six miles from Morehouse, Mo.—on Friday the 13th—Ring, pet dog of the Hollis Swafford family, refused to leave what had been the family's house, although all that remained was a scattered pile of kindling wood and smashed furnishings. Ring is pictured above sitting in the midst of the debris. None of the family was killed.

See Sufficient Labor Available Until Next Fall

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 20.—A program for mobilization of the nation's industrial manpower may be deferred for the present, President Roosevelt indicated today, in view of reports which show that sufficient labor is available for all work up until next fall.

Mr Roosevelt said frankly that following the coming fall there probably will be a number of shortages in the various fields of skilled labor.

At his press conference, he was non-committal about the nature of the ultimate program for mobilizing industrial manpower.

He suggested that it might be possible to build up existing machinery, and intimated he was not particularly keen about a new setup.

When theidea was advanced that the selective service registration might be used as the framework, the president again was non-committal.

HAMMERED INTO ARREST

(International News Service)

NEW YORK.—Thomas Demko, 20, and Walter Kaskolski, 18, were picked up and charged with burglary and possession of burglars' tools after dropping their hammer four floors from a fire escape outside a Manhattan musical instrument firm. It dropped near Patrolman Reon Bouren, who also somewhat startled, regained his composure and arrested the pair.

Would Pay $150 To First U. S. Flyer To Bomb Tokyo.

Dropping bombs on Tokyo has been put upon a cash and carry basis, at least so far as the Roumanian Society here, is concerned. In a statement today John Russo, president of the society said "the society has passed a resolution which calls for the payment of $150 in cash to the first United States aviator who drops a bomb on Tokyo. If the aviator does not return, the money will be paid to his family. "We know America will win this war."

The society has purchased defense bonds to the limit of its treasury and will purchase more. On Sunday afternoon and evening a dinner will be held in the society club rooms on South Jefferson street and the proceeds will all go to the American Red Cross.

Direct shipments, plus A&P's saving-prices whisk foods out of our markets at their freshness peak. In short, foods arrive every day and leave every day for thousands of happy homes. More Than 11,000 Trout To Be Stocked

Fish Warden White Reports Shipments Arrive Next Week

HIGH WATER IS RECEDING FAST

Brown and rainbow trout will be stocked in the Big Run, Little Neshannock and Taylor Run, Wednesday morning, according to Clint White, fish warden for Lawrence county.

Approximately 4,300 trout ranging in size from six to 15 inches will be placed in the streams. In other streams, Hickory Creek, Deer Creek and Taylor Run, approximately 7,100 of the same sized trout will be stocked Monday.

The shipments for Big Run and the Little Neshannock will arrived at 11 a.m. March 25, at New Castle and New Wilmington post-offices and White would like fishermen to be at those offices at that time so there will be no delay in placing the stock in the streams. The fish for the other aforenamed streams will arrive at 11 a.m. Monday and the services of fishermen for stocking will be welcomed.

According to White, the streams are going down and he feels satisfied that the trout will not be washed downstream.

Another truck load will arrive at the Bessemer post office at 11 a. m. the same day and a third truck load will arrive also at 11 a. m. March 23 at the Plaingrove post office. Marine vs Sailor and Sailor vs Sailor. This will be the order in two of eight amateur boxing bouts to be staged one week from Monday night in The Arena according to Matchmaker Tommy Leach of the Jefferson A. C. It will be the first time a marine has opposed a sailor in a local boxing bout and also the first time two sailors have met here. All are attached to local recruiting offices. In one bout Edward Spigler, navy, will box James Final, marines and in the other exhibition William Carlin and William Horchler both of the navy will box, Leach asserted. Their commanding officers approved the matches yesterday.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal.—Honus Wagner, with the same spirit that carried him through 21 years of major league baseball, is ready to begin his 10th year as coach of the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National league pennant race.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 20.—Sock 'em and rock 'em—

The busting twins of the New York Yankees are slated to get back into the lineup after a layoff since last season and begin grooming themselves for the forthcoming defense of the American league pennant and the world championship. The busting twins would be Joe DiMaggio and Charley Keller, whom Manager Joe McCarthy, according to dispatches, planned to put into the lineup today in a grapefruit league exhibition.

They go into the lineup at a time when the Yankees have been averaging about six hits a game, or about two less than nothing according to their standards, especially at this time of year when the pitchers must be a little off.

Deserve Raise

They go in too after protracted holdouts that finally were settled with boosts in salaries for both of them to the everlasting joy of every fair-minded person in the land. They went a long ways toward making the Yankees what they were last season and if ever two guys deserved a raise in salary they were the ones.

The Yankees simply had to haggle with them in keeping with tradition which holds that ball players shouldn't be treated fairly if there is any way to avoid it. You start off by offering them less than they are worth—intrinsically and in gate receipts—then pay them what you have to to get them to play. If in the meantime, you get the fans agitated against the players and make them look like heels that's all right too. But in this particular case, without DiMaggio and Keller the Yanks wouldn't win the pennant, so they were signed without too much hollering and finally are ready to go.

Represent Power

They represented the power that made the Yankees go last season.

DiMaggio was No. 1 in runs batted in and Keller No. 3, just one run behind Jeff Heath of Cleveland, and any manager will tell you that such a combination is enough in any league at any time to make things reasonably tough for the opposition.

Here is what DiMaggio and Keller did last season offensively:

	R	TB	HR	RBI	BA
DiMaggio	122	348	30	125	.357
Keller	102	294	33	122	.298

Besides being third in runs batted in, Keller was second in home runs. Besides being first in runs batted in, DiMaggio was first in total bases. They were up there in other departments, too.

So as they go into the lineup today, if they do as scheduled, or whenever they do, the customers at that particular game will be looking at the punch upon which the Yankees are basing their hopes for another pennant and world title.

Good Fielders

Not that hitting is their only accomplishment. They come pretty close to making the nucleus of the best outfield in the major leagues day after day. They can field and throw and they will make every play right down to the hilt, offensively and defensively.

What the Yankees probably will begin to do at any time now is to hit the ball at a rate better than six hits per game, and they will begin to look to the pennant again, if that is to be their fortune, and will begin to look like the Yankees.

They couldn't do it without DiMaggio and Keller, the most important (DiMaggio) and about the third or fourth most important (Keller) men on the squad. None tops the former, and off-hand I would say that only DiMaggio and Joe Gordon top Keller in value to the club.

So welcome back, gents and may you bust a thousand.

Race Track Men Meet On Thursday

Discuss Ways In Which Horse Racing Will Make War Contributions

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, March 20—Committed to full cooperation in the nation's war program, leading race track operators, horse owners, breeders and others connected with the sport discussed in committees today the manner in which they would make their contributions toward victory against the Axis.

The pledge of cooperation formally was made after the organization of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations of the United States with John C. Clark of Hialeah Park as president.

Harry Parr, 3rd, of Pimlico, was named vice president along with a board of directors consisting of Col. Matt Winn of Churchill Downs, Carleton Burke, Santa Anita, and George Francis, Belmont Park.

Sentiment among the horsemen was that a decision eventually would be reached for the tracks to make outright contributions from profits, but several of the representatives were not able to commit themselves until they had conferred by telephone or telegraph with other officials at home.

Yale Dismisses Three Mentors

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 20.—War today cast its fateful shadows over the Yale campus.

With the student enrollment slashed by the draft and enlistments, university officials dismissed Baseball Coach Smoky Joe Wood, Tennis Coach Bill Hinchliff and Golf Coach Ben Thompson in the interest of economy.

Wood, a pitching immortal with the Boston Red Sox and hero of the 1912 world series, has been mentor at Yale for 20 years.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sports trail stuff and things:-

"Am getting along very well. Am studying radio and communication methods. Say hello to Lawrence county's sports gallery," Mike Kraynak writes from Parris Island, S. C. The Ellwoodian, who joined the United States Marine Corps several weeks ago, supplied oodles of thrills during his boxing career.

Hospitalized for the past several days, Romeo Pacelli, one of the most colorful performers in local boxing annals, is back home. Pacelli was admitted to New Castle hospital for treatment. The popular south sider resides at 1008 Agnew street.

Vic "Blackie" Nocera, who has an exceptionally sharp eye on the basketball court, has enacted a major role in West Virginia Wesleyan's drive to the finals of the annual West Virginia Conference floor tourney. The southsiders plunked in 26 points in two games besides flashing perfect form on defense.

Ellwood Kammer, Massilon high's new coach, is listed as one of the greatest halfbacks in the history books of Grove City college . . . . Today's $64 question: Who is the world's wrestling champion? . . . . "Red" Rolfe, the scholarly New York Yankee infielder, is reportedly suffering with colitis.

"Monk" Simons, Jr., Tulane's new grid mentor, formerly served as the Wave's mascot! . . . Penn State's cagers start flinging in the N. C. A. A. derby tonight against Dartmouth with an offensive mark of 40.8. Defensively, the Lions sport an exceptionally respectable 30.4 reading which is tops in collegiate ranks.

Joe Gordon, of the Yanks, has the fastest throwing arm in baseball. This is the opinion of Manager Joe Cronin, of the Boston Red Sox. . . A new tennis ball, manufactured from reclaimed rubber, has hit the market. . . . Golf balls, by the way, made of reclaimed rubber are 90 per cent as lively as those made before the war brought the shortage.

Texas A. & M. isn't worrying about losing gridders to the Army ranks. The College Station school is a war-department approved institution, thus being protected against losses by draft . . . Abe Simon is learning jiujitsu. Maybe he's pepping for a rasslin' career after he hears the birds sing their spring-time song on the 27th.

Two Play-Off Games On Y Floor Tonight

Two play-off games will be played at the Y. M. C. A. tonight.

In the curtain lifter, carded for 7:45 o'clock, the Celtics and Globe-trotters will match shots in the opening of a three game series for the House league title.

At 8:15 o'clock, the Epworth and St. Vitus quintets fire away in the first of the three game series in the Church league.

Robinson-Rubio To Fight Tonight

Tiny Joe Louis Guns For 118th Mitt Victory In Madison Square Garden

By JACK MAHON
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, March 20—Rough and ready Norman Rubio, who likes the taste of leather and the blood of a real battle, faces the biggest opportunity of his fistic life at Madison Square Garden tonight when he wades into the flying fists of unbeaten Ray Robinson in a twelve round bout. Rubio goes into the brawl as a substitute but can come out of it the biggest hero of the winter.

For Robinson, who is now being called, "the little Joe Louis" by the folks who have nothing better to do than think up fancy ring names, is gunning for the 29th straight victory of his professional career and the 118th of his boxing career.

You can imagine, then, the opportunity, suddenly given this Albany, N. Y. lad who never stops throwing punches. Norman is a relief man for the ailing Marto Servo, who came down with the grippe.

Because of his style, Rubio is bound to give the clever Robinson trouble. Norm charges in like a bull terrier. He'll take not one, but ten punches to get in a good shot, and he crowds his opponent against the ropes repeatedly.

Rubio is as tough as one of MacArthur's heroes. He has never been knocked out and has never taken a count on the few occasions he has gone to the floor. There is no doubt that he will slug it out with Robinson, in close, and the boxing brotherhood insist if Ray can't finish Normie early, there's going to be stormy weather in the garden in the last half of the fight.

Track Stars Gather For Chicago Relays

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, March 20.—A galaxy of track stars, including the world record holders, Cornelius Warmerdam and Greg Rice, will bring the major indoor season to a close tonight in the Chicago relays.

A great crowd is expected to pack the Chicago stadium on the possibility that Warmerdam, the high flying Dutch school teacher from San Francisco's Olympic club may better the pole vault of 15 feet 7 1-4 inches he made recently at Boston, or that Rice may surpass his own indoor record of 8:51.1 for the two miles.

Rice, a Notre Dame alumnus now representing the New York A. C., set his record for the two miles at the Chicago relays a year ago.

Warmerdam will be opposed by a field headed by Earle Meadows, holder of the Chicago relays record of 14 feet 6 1-4 inches.

Miss Suggs defeated Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., 6 and 5 after the youthful Miss Cline dropped five of the first nine holes to the Georgia favorite.

ONE SENTENCE

Sitting alone, Judge John G. Lamoree sentenced Vincent Holcomb Friday morning upon a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He was fined $100 and costs and given thirty days in the county jail, to be released in five days if the fine and costs are paid.

LOBBY REPAIRS START

Workmen started Friday morning to remove the wood work in the lobby of the court house to make way for panelling which will be installed. The new panelling will go up seven feet and from there new plaster will be put on and painted. The repairs are a part of the general plan started two years ago to remodel the entire court house. In that time the old building has been overhauled, the Boyles property bought, and an addition to the court house is now being completed. When it is all done the entire cost will probably not be more than $200,000.

When the wood work came off, a host of old time political cards was found in back. Among them were cards of Clyde V. Alley and Thomas W. Dickey, candidates for district attorney in 1909, D. G. Ramsey for council, 1915, W. J. Spurrier for council, 1915, Almatrim Beatty for General Assembly in 1908, E. F. G. Harper for General Assembly in 1914, Dr. D. D. Cunningham for General Assembly in 1914, J. J. Dean for General Assembly in 1916.

One card had candidates on both sides. On one side was a "Non-Partisan" (the quotes are on the card city candidates slate, while on the other side was a list of the Socialist candidates for county office in 1915.

A card of the Pulaski Fair Association was found, advertising the fair to be held September 21, 22, 23, 24, 1915. K. C. Hayes was president, J. P. Buchanan, secretary and B. E. Riblett had the Privileges.

Stained with age and dirt the cards are evidences of political activities many years ago. Many of the men represented on the cards served with distinction and have now passed on. Others are still alive. The chances are that no cards will slide down back of the new panelling for it will be seven feet from the floor.

COMPENSATION REFEREE

Attorney Harvey E. Moore of Sharon, who is the referee for the Workmen's Compensation Board in this district held hearings in court room II on Thursday.

MAKE WAGER

NEW ORLEANS—Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Mel Ott, the new pilot of the New York Giants, already have made one bet on the 1942 major league baseball season.

Durocher has wagered that the 17 games he participated in during 1941 will exceed the number of games that Ott will play in during 1942.

GOOD REMINDER

Paul Erickson, Cub pitcher, will wear a scar on his nose as a reminder of the 1942 training season. He was hit by a ball thrown by Catcher Clyde McCullough. The nose was badly cut and broken.

ANOTHER DeCORREVONT

Seven colleges have sought the services of Howard Extract, sensational Abraham Lincoln high school halfback in New York.

B. J. Hanlon In Naval Reserve

B. J. "Bud" Hanlon, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Hanlon of 238 Euclid avenue, has departed for Pittsburgh, where he will begin service in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

Budd is well-known among the local supports circles, having been a popular basketball star and referee for many years. He will remain in service for the duration.

NEW YORK, March 20.—The stock market drifted irregularly lower in continued sluggish trading today.

Many leaders failed to make more than one or two appearances on the tape through the forenoon, and a number of these held at last night's closing levels. Price changes to either side were extremely small.

Retail trade for the week was 15 to 20 per cent above the corresponding 1941 period.

American Telephone, Union Pacific and Standard Oil of N. J., each lost a point to feature on the downside.

Lesser declines were shown by Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Santa Fe, Consolidated Edison, Texas Co., General Electric, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Du Pont and Douglas Aircraft.

Dow Chemical, which broke 4 points yesterday, recovered half of the loss at the opening.

Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Edison and Loew's were others to hold behind plus signs.
